JAPANESE PLANES FIRE UPON BRITISH EMBASSY PARTY

British Embassy Motor Cars Target For Jap Airplanes

Report Six Planes Open Fire Upon British Autos In War Zone

BRITISH DECLARE JAPS WERE WARNED

Japanese Authorities Deny Having Been Notified Of Plans For Trip

SHANGHAI, Oct. 12.—Heedless of advance notification, six Japanese war planes machine-gunned a cavalcade of British embassy motor cars at Minghong, 13 miles south of Shanghai today, threatening grave new international complications in the Far Eastern crisis.

No one was injured, but British authorities took an extremely serious view of the incident. Contrary to Japanese denials, this correspondent learned the British notified Nipponese military leaders two days ago that ten of their subjects, including a diplomatic attache, would make the hazardous 150-mile trip from Nanking to Shanghai through the war zone.

Precaution Taken

This precaution was taken because of the recent wounding of Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, British ambassador to China, by a Japanese machine-gunner on the same road a few weeks ago.

The British supplied the Japanese with a complete list of the prospective passengers. The Japanese had promised that whenever such advance notification was given,

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Quite a number of citizens will spend a more comfortable winter this year owing to improvements made during the summer months. These have included insulating, veneering with imitation brick, and weather stripping of windows and doors. All three add greatly to the comforts of a home, and while the two first mentioned are rather expensive, the third can be done at a minimum of cost. Any or all cut down coal bills.

Many motorists are touring the county to find the most beautiful autumn scenery, and naturally it is found in the more densely wooded sections, but even along any highway you will find plenty of artistic settings. One road which many motorists love to travel at this season, is that leading from West Pittsburg east to the New Castle-Ellwood road.

Earle Threatens To Supercede Erie County Official, If Probe Starts

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 12.—Gov. George H. Earle today threatened to direct Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti to supersede Erie county's District Attorney Mortimer E. Graham if a grand jury is called upon to investigate the so-called "gravel scandal".

The governor's declaration, carrying with it a strongly-worded charge that Graham, a Republican, was motivated by political inspiration, came in the wake of the "disclosure" by Secretary of Property and Supplies Arthur Colegrove that David L. Lawrence, state Democratic chairman and secretary of the commonwealth, was the once-mysterious "Mr. So-and-So".

Colegrove also is Erie county Democratic chairman.

Claims Political Motive.

"This is a matter of vital importance to the whole state," the governor said. "Because I cannot and will not condone a grand jury investigation for purely political purposes, I will direct the attorney general to

Ministerial Association Members Want Funerals On Week Days Only

NEW PRESIDENT IS IN CHAIR MONDAY

Re-affirming its opposition to Sunday funerals except when requested by the health authorities, the New Castle Ministerial association yesterday, at the regular meeting in the First Presbyterian church, approved a resolution which they will send to the local undertakers and cemetery managers.

"The holding of funeral services on week days only in Lawrence county has been the policy of the Ministerial association for at least 15 years," the resolution said in part, "has brought hardship to no one, and has given Sunday rest to many. The ministers have been glad always to cooperate with the health authorities in case of an epidemic of contagious or infectious diseases" and they have "appreciated the cooperation of the undertakers' associations and the managements of our ceme-

Brady Mobsters Hunted Since 1936

G-Men On Trail Since Robbery At Lima, Ohio, In March, 1936

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Eradication of the "Brady Mob" in a gun battle in Bangor, Me., this morning was confirmed by the Department of Justice, although no detailed report has yet been received.

The G-men reported wounded in the gun-battle was identified as Walter Walsh of Washington, considered one of the F.B.I.'s ace operatives.

Federal operatives have been hot on the trail of the Brady mobsters since March, 1936, when Brady and his confederates held up a Lima (O.) jewelry store, seized $35,000 and escaped into Indiana.

Early this year, the attorney general announced a reward of $500 for any member of the gang, dead or alive.

Brady and his gang are credited by F.B.I. officials with at least three murders and robberies totalling many thousands of dollars in the past two years. It was Brady's boast that before he was through he would make "John Dillinger look like a piker."

J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the F.B.I., appeared at his office several hours after press wires carried accounts of the killing of Brady. He refused to answer any questions concerning the case.

Sit-Down Strike In Mine Ended

(International News Service)

COALDALE, Pa., Oct. 12.—Pandemonium reigned in the Panther creek valley today as 7500 hard coal miners and their families began a day-long celebration over termination of the seven-day "sit-down" strike of 38 miners nearly a quarter of a mile below the earth's surface.

A big automobile parade of the sit-downers and the more than 7,000 "sympathy" strikers was scheduled to take place here this afternoon. Columbus Day provided a convenient holiday.

Meet To Formulate Policies And Action For November 2 Election

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 12.—Democratic leaders from Pennsylvania's 67 counties met here today to crystallize policies and action for the November 2 "off-year" elections.

On the eve of the meeting, Gov. George H. Earle, as reported exclusively by International News Service last week, announced he would urge the state committee to declare itself in favor of ear-marking proceeds of the proposed graded income tax for school districts to reduce real estate taxation.

Chest To Print Names Of Givers

Policy Chosen By Leaders; Now $12,974 Of $70,000 Pledged

ANNOUNCE PLANS FOR CHEST DRIVE

The News this year will publish names of all contributors to the 1937 Community Chest campaign, it was announced today at Chest headquarters, 37 North Mercer street.

Drive leaders made the announcement as they disclosed that a total of $12,974 has already been pledged —or paid off in cash—to the fund. The goal this year is $70,000.

Much of the $12,974, it was pointed out, has been voluntarily given at the downtown office of the Chest organization. More was being given today.

While the formal campaign doesn't open until Monday, Oct. 18, the advanced gifts forces were in the field today soliciting larger gifts. Representatives of all the agency boards of directors make up the advanced gifts section. They opened their work with a luncheon yesterday.

Nine agencies—not eight—make up this year's Chest. They are the Jameson Memorial and New Castle hospitals, the Y. M. C. A., Y. W. C. A., Margaret Henry Home, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, City Rescue Mission and Salvation Army.

Getting ready for their opening next Monday, all team workers will raliy at The Castleton Thursday evening, Oct. 14, to hear speakers and to make last-minute campaign preparations.

Student Strike At Duquesne Is Started Today

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12.—A student strike broke out at Duquesne university today in the wake of the resignation of Father T. R. Jones, professor of philosophy, because he told students at a pep rally that football players at the University of Pittsburgh "play for weekly pay checks".

Students who had attended Father Pones' classes walked out on strike after they were informed by the faculty of his resignation. Scores of students congregated on the edge of the campus. A student petition was circulated asking for his reinstatement.

Pitt defeated Duquesne Saturday, 6 to 0. Duquesne university officials publicly apologized for Father Jones' statement.

Tax Revision Plans Are Made

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Plans were laid at a White House conference today for tax revision legislation at the next session of congress, but house ways and means chairman Robert L. Doughton expressed "the fervent hope" that no new taxes would be necessary.

Rather, President Roosevelt and his advisers will attempt to adjust the undistributed profits tax, modify and adjust the so-called nuisance taxes, and slow up any new loopholes that may be found, Doughton said.

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Oct. 12.—Stumbling into the gulf of years between them, Richard O. Kandler, 71, and Mrs. Elaine Kandler, his 21-year-old bride of a year, today agreed their "dance through life" had bogged down.

In the divorce bill she filed yesterday, Mrs. Kandler charged cruelty and asks a $25,000 property settlement. She stated she eloped with Kandler to Crown Point, Ind., six months after enrolling in his dancing school.

"I was fascinated," she explained later. "I knew nothing about men. He became my romantic ideal.

"He made me believe dancers, like their art, are ageless. He told me he would mould my personality and develop my poise, that he loved me as my own creation."

Kandler confined his comment to his wife's divorce suit, to the statement:

"Young girls are too fickle."

His attorney indicated the action would be uncontested.

Brothers Meet Death While Riding Bicycles On Way To School

(International News Service)

BRACKENRIDGE, Pa., Oct. 12.—Two Leechburg brothers were struck by a car and killed today while enroute to school. The car was driven by a school teacher, police reported.

The boys—Charles Briggs, 16, and his brother, Jack, 12—were riding bicycles when struck, the coroner reported. The driver was tentatively identified as a Miss Craig.

President May Reveal Date For Special Session

By GEORGE DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—President Roosevelt may reveal the date he will call congress back into special session when he goes on the air tonight to make a "fireside" report on his recent 7,500-mile tour of inspection.

Informally, the president has intimated the call will come between Nov. 8 and 16.

According to White House attaches, Mr. Roosevelt will discuss "half a dozen subjects" tonight over the airways.

Best information was he would stress the need for immediate enactment of crop control legislation so it may apply to next year's crops in view of this year's surplus in several major commodities.

Likewise, the president was expected to call for prompt action on hour and wage legislation, which he holds equally essential.

Although the executive may again touch on in the international situation, it was not anticipated he would offer anything new tonight beyond the Chicago speech. In this speech he jolted world capitals by pointedly calling attention to the threat of another general war.

Consul General For U. S. Is Slain At Beirut, Syria

J. Theodore Marriner Shot And Killed Alighting From Auto

REPORT SLAYER REFUSED PASSPORT

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BEIRUT, Syria, Oct. 12.—J. Theodore Marriner, United States consul general here, was shot and killed today by an assailant who was identified as an American citizen of Armenian origin.

The American foreign service expert, whose varied career had made him one of the best known of American representatives abroad, was felled outside the American consulate.

According to officials, the assailant fired at Marriner point blank just as he stepped from an automobile outside the consulate.

According to reports widely circulated here, the slayer previously had been refused a visa to enter the United States. Police were investigating whether this was the motive for the shooting.

The assailant, who was arrested at the scene of the shooting, was grilled by French authorities.

Avalon High Gridder Collapses And Dies On Practice Field

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12.—Abolition of football this year at Avalon high school was expected today following the death of a 16-year-old player who collapsed on the field during scrimmage.

Jack Brice, a junior, was participating in a practice session of the team, preparatory to the annual game with Edgewood high school scheduled for tomorrow. Teammates said they believed he was injured while making a tackle. He recovered, however, and lined up for the next play before collapsing.

The Edgewood game was immediately cancelled and school officials said the team's entire schedule will be called off. Official approval of this action was expected by the school board today.

Republicans Greet Green

Large Number At Reception For State G. O. P. Chairman Last Night

NEW STATE HEAD FORESEES VICTORY

Republicanism in Lawrence county demonstrated that it is very much alive Monday night when nearly 500 men and women of all walks of life and from all parts of the county gathered in The Castleton hotel to meet the new state chairman, G. Edward Green, of Pittsburgh.

The occasion was not even a meeting. It was merely an opportunity to stop in the hotel and meet the chairman, chat for a few minutes and then make way for the long line in back. It was the most spontaneous demonstration of Republicanism seen here in some time.

Green Delighted

Mr. Green was delighted with the showing made. "From what I have seen here tonight, and from the information I have received, I would say that Lawrence county is going to be safely in the Republican column in November" said Mr. Green.

"It is so in other counties that I visit. I am surprised and delighted with the response to Republicanism once again. The results next month may be surprising to many but after sounding out sentiment throughout the state I will be surprised if many many counties do not go back into the Republican column in a very definite way."

The reception Monday night was in charge of the county chairman, Captain Roger W. Rowland.

Kidnaper Of Mattson Boy Most Wanted

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12—The kidnaper-murderer of little Charley Mattson—never yet identified—headed the list of the government's most wanted criminals today after the "rubbing out" of the Al Brady gang by federal operatives in Bangor, Me.

Next to him stand two Florida bank robbers, Hugh Gant and Alva Dewey Hunt, brothers-in-law, on whose respective heads the department of justice has posted rewards of $1,000.

There is a standing reward of $10,000 for information leading to the arrest of the Mattson kidnaper, but months of intensive work have failed to identify the man who stole the boy from his Tacoma (Wash.) home and murdered him.

Two Bandits Shot To Death At Bangor, Me.

Third Bandit And One Of G-Men Wounded In Street Gun Battle

PUBLIC ENEMY NO. 1 AND PALS VICTIMS

"Second Dillinger Gang" Is Tracked Down To End By G-Men Up In Maine

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 12.—The reign of Indiana's "second Dillinger gang," was brought to a grim and dramatic finale today when a contingent of G-men and local policemen shot and killed Al Brady, America's Public Enemy Number 1, and a lieutenant, Clarence Lee Shaffer, Jr., and wounded a third bandit, James Dalhover.

The three were mowed down in a sensational gun battle in the heart of the business district.

G-Man Wounded

One of the G-men, Walter Walsh, was wounded as bullets splattered all over the scene of the battle. He was rushed to a hospital while the lone survivor of the bandit trio was taken to police headquarters.

Brady, who had been designated by J. Edgar Hoover, director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, as the nation's chief public enemy, had been wanted for at least three murders and a score of bank robberies in the middlewest.

The 26-year-old bandit leader and his confederates were trapped after they had made three visits to Bangor, presumably from Bridgeport, Conn. They had come here to buy special type guns.

Authorities On Trail

The local authorities were tipped that the gangsters were making visits to Bangor. The police here forwarded this information to the Department of Justice at Washington. The result was that when the bandits arrived here this morning in an automobile, at least ten G-men and ten local police officers were lying in wait.

Shortly after 8:30 a. m. the bandit car came to a stop in front of Dakin's Sporting Goods Store where the gangsters previously had been dickering for gun purchases.

G-men were sitting in cars nearby and also were stationed near the windows of an office building directly across the street from the store. Local police were scattered about in the vicinity and several officers were within the store.

Enters Store

Dalhover got out of the car and walked into the store. Behind the counter, acting as clerk, was G-Man Walsh.

"Up with your hands!" snapped Walsh.

Dalhover made a break for the rear of the store. Police officers intercepted him, as he was dashing for a door leading into an alley.

Pickets Besiege Trucking Co. Garages

Road Is Blocked Near Pittsburgh

Organization Drive Of A. F. Of L. Teamsters Union Is Being Continued

NON-UNION DRIVERS BEING TURNED BACK

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12.—Law enforcing agencies refused to intervene today in Pennsylvania's trucking war as roving pickets from the A F of L's teamsters' union struck with renewed vigor in Pittsburgh and other Western Pennsylvania communities in their organization drive.

One trucking firm, the Continental Transportation lines, acceded to union demands after 1,000 pickets besieged its garages, virtually imprisoning 90 truck rivers and helpers who were engaged in unloading dorries. When company representatives agreed to sign a contract, the union lines were immediately withdrawn.

Surround Garages

A short time later, pickets surrounded the garages of the Silver Fleet Express company.

The Frankstown road at Universal was blockaded with all non-union truckers being turned back, a dozen coal haulers, enroute to Pittsburgh from Penn township mines were halted and refused free passage by the pickets.

Drivers who were halted by the union lines reported to police they were advised to join the A F of L affiliate at an initial cost of $27.50 plus monthly dues if they wanted to engage in transportation freight.

Police Not Intervening

Another driver said he complained to state motor patrolmen but that he was shunted from one office to another by local and state police, finally winding up at his original starting point. It was said the state officers would not intervene unless ordered to do so by the Harrisburg headquarters.

Allegheny county sheriff Frank I. Gollmar said he planned to meet today with officials of the general teamsters' council to explain the legal limitations of picketing. He said he had been "assured" by telephone that picketing would be conducted strictly within the law.

Pickets Dispersed.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 12.—A group of 25 union pickets blockading East Ohio street here was dispersed by police today as officials of the teamsters' union announced they were preparing to continue their campaign against non-union truck drivers with renewed vigor.

Police Lieutenant William Seibert, explaining the official intervention, said he broke up the blockade because the men were using a red flag to stop truck operators, a violation of the state law. He said that earlier police in Millvale had dispersed them.

It was the first instance of police intervention in Pittsburgh.

In Harrisburg, Commissioner Percy W. Foote of the state motor police declared it was the duty of the motor police to clear roads if pickets placed "physical obstruction on the highways" but added it was the policy of the motor police not to intervene in industrial disputes unless violence broke out at which time they would step in.

Colored Center Is Needed Here Now, Jr. C. Of C. Told

Group Hears Civic Proposal; Industrial Promotion Work Reported

A need for a recreational and educational center for the colored residents of the community exists in New Castle today, members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce were told last night by Dr. James A. Gillespie, spokesman for a representative group of New Castle's leading colored citizens.

The organization listened to the call for "some type of community center" and then instructed a committee to give study to the matter.

Meeting in The Castleton, the junior chamber received numerous committee reports. Several new members were greeted and last-minute reviews of the groups' industrial promotion program were given.

President Presley N. Jones, presiding, instructed its Big Run flood control committee to meet soon with Attorney Elmer O'Neil, secretary to Congressman Charles R. Eckles, to press action on the proposal to erect a dam in the stream below Cascade Park. The South Side Board of Trade is leading the movement.

probably will endorse, officially four constitutional amendments to be voted upon November 2, the state supreme court willing, as the only clear-cut state-wide issues.

The amendments would pave the way for enactment of a graded net income tax; permit city-county government consolidation in Philadelphia; eliminate the five-year "time lock" on voting on constitutional changes and "legalize" old age and mothers' assistance payments.

A fifth, providing for a $42,000,000 bond issue, was dropped by Governor Earle following a rearrangement of finaces of the general state authority, although it will be on the ballot.

It was believed the state Democratic leaders would follow Governor Earle's recommendations to the letter.

Deaths of the Day

Ignatius Len.

Ignatius Len, aged 55 years, succumbed to a short illness Monday at 6 p. m. in his home, 1805½ Hanna street.

He was born in Poland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Len. For the past 31 years he lived in New Castle, a carpenter by trade, and was a member of SS. Philip and James church and the Kaz. Pulaski club.

He leaves his wife, Mrs. Mary Len, two daughters, Wanda and Helen, at home, his mother, Mrs Katherine Krok, in Poland, a brother, Ludwig in Youngstown, O., and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Pulchlopek and Mrs. Victoria Zultek, in Poland.

Funeral mass will be celebrated at 10 p. m. Thursday in SS. Philip and James church with Rev V. V. Stancelewski officiating. Interment will be made in the church cemetery.

Funeral Of Mr. McClelland.

Services for the late James G. McClelland of Dewey avenue were conducted at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon in the Jos. S. Rice Co. chapel, with Rev. Joseph A. Cousins, D. D., pastor of the Croton Avenue M. E. church, in charge.

"Sometime We'll Understand" and "Abide With Me" were beautifully sung by Miss Clara Eddy and her mother.

The pallbearers were Charles Hunter, Maurice Hunter, Howard Hunter, Jr., Howard Hunter, Sr., John McClelland and Ollie McClelland. Interment was made in Greenwood cemetery.

Mrs. Angelo Ross

Mrs. Lucia Malizia Ross, aged 87 years, wife of Angelo Ross, died at the home of her son, Salvatore Ross, 1103 Butler avenue, at 2:30 a. m. today, after an illness of some time.

Mrs. Ross was born in Italy on April 16, 1850. She came to America in 1891 and passed most of her life since that time in Hillsville. For the past two years she lived at her son's home in New Castle. She was a member of St. Joseph's church here.

Besides her husband and son, she leaves three daughters, Mrs. Antonia Morell and Mrs. Mary Ferrante of Struthers, O., and Mrs. Rosie Marshall of Hillsville; thirty-five grandchildren, and thirty-three great-grandchildren.

The body will be at the Butler avenue address and friends may call there after 6 o'clock this evening. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

teries in this matter" but the ministerial association "re-affirms its policy, that funeral services, excepting when otherwise requested by the health authorities, be held on week days only, and asks for the cooperation of the public in this matter."

Dr. McIlvaine Presides.

Rev. John J. McIlvaine, the new president, presided and conducted the devotional service which opened the session. Mrs. J. C. Fulton was the accompanist as the group sang "Blest Be the Tie That Binds".

Rev. A. M. Stump reported for the committee which met with Major Braden relative to community recreations. The report was accepted and Rev. Stump continued as the representative of this group. The report of the committee on religious instruction of the Almira Home board was read, approved and will be published in Wednesday's News.

Rev. P. C. Pearson presented the resolution relative to Sunday funerals and it was approved. Rabbi Diamond asked to be made an exception owing to customs among the Jewish people; this was granted. Copies of the resolution will be sent to the Lawrence County Funeral Directors' association and the managements of all cemeteries with the request that they re-affirm this policy.

Reception Representative.

An invitation to Rev. W. V. McLean's reception tonight by the trustees of the First M. E. church was read and Rev. C. H. Hagadorn was appointed to represent the association at the reception.

Before the order of the day was taken up Rev. H. A. McCurdy introduced Dr. J. A. Cousins, new pastor of the Croton Avenue M. E. church; Rev. R. H. Eckert, new pastor at Savannah, and Rev. A. A. Swanson, new pastor at Edenburg. Rev. Stump introduced Rev. Einar Lehto of the Finnish Lutheran church; Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates introduced Paul Chapin, a seminary student, and Rabbi Norman Diamond introduced Rev. M. C. Mills of St. Paul's Baptist.

Rev. William McPherson, former pastor of Bethel A. M. E. church, announced that he was leaving the city; the association drew a resolution of commendation for the faithful service he had always given so readily to church and community.

Rev. Yeates Speaks.

Rev. Thomas B. Shearer, vice president of the association, presented the speaker of the morning, Rev. Chester T. R. Yeates, Third U. P. minister, who recently returned from the Holy Land. Rev. Yeates spoke very informally of some of the interesting events of his trip; many of the amazing incidents were much enjoyed by the listeners. The speaker described the many problems that exist in Palestine. He said it is still a land of three languages.

Rev. M. Cecil Mills, in a short talk, spoke on the Negro problem.

President McIlvaine announced the following committees: program, H. A. McCurdy chairman, A. M. Stump, S. E. Irvine, G. S. Bennett; law and order, D. L. Ferguson chairman, C. H. Heaton, D. C. Schnebly, J. A. Cousins and J. A. Tinker; and library, P. C. Pearson chairman, C. B. Wingerd, C. H. Hagadorn and F. E. Stough.

The next meeting will be in two weeks with the speaker to be announced later

EARLE THREATENS TO SUPERCEDE ERIE COUNTY OFFICIAL

supersede the district attorney of Erie county if he calls the grand jury and will myself name three outstanding disinterested and impartial attorneys to lay this matter before the grand jury in order that the investigation will be fair and impartial to all and that justice will be done. The superseded district attorney will, of course, lay all his evidence before the grand jury."

The governor tool this attitude, he said, in view of Graham's intimation that he may call upon a grand jury to bring possible criminal action against two cabinet members and others in connection with the sale of inferior gravel to the highway department in the Erie district.

Two Were Dismissed.

As a result of the governor's investigation, conducted by the state police, H. H. Temple, chief engineer of the highway department, and E. A. Griffith, district engineer, were dismissed several months ago.

Colegrove, in a statement yesterday, said Lawrence was the person referred to as "Mr.-So-and-So" by Temple when the "scandal" broke.

Governor Earle declared Colegrove had not made the disclosure at the time the investigation was disclosed because he, Colegrove, was aware that Lawrence and Temple were "not on speaking terms for months and months" and that the charge was "ridiculous".

Colegrove conferred with the governor before issuing the statement.

Graham Replies

Erie, Pa., Oct. 12.—District Attorney Mortimer Graham, of Erie, today replied to Gov. George H. Earle's criticism of his action in re-opening the Erie county gravel case with three questions to the chief executive.

Graham demanded of the governor:

Why he did not make known the facts of the state police probe?

What was behind the "average bid" inquiry in which the Pioneer Materials Company was low in nearly all townships?

Why are not the taxpayers entitled to know the results of the state police probe which was financed with their money.

State officials have maintained the "average bid inquiry" was not involved in the Erie county case.

Graham explained he did not possess enough evidence for a grand jury investigation but that he would submit the case to a grand jury if his investigation disclosed sufficient evidence for such an action.

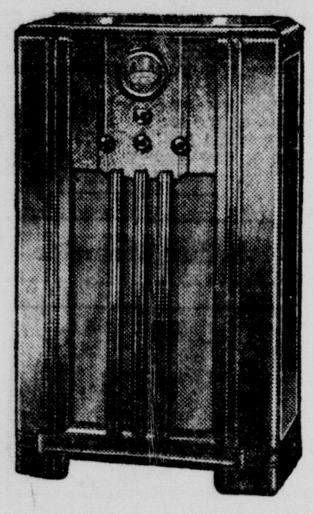

The Erie prosecutor further maintained that Governor Earle cannot legally appoint three impartial attorneys to handle the case. A grand jury investigation, he said, is a matter for the president judge of Erie county who, Graham said, "is familiar with some of the evidence already gathered."

OBSERVE 61ST ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. John P. Rea, of 322 Locust street, are observing their sixty-first wedding anniversary today.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Rea are in their eighty-second year and are able to follow their daily routine as well as their favorite pastimes as fervently as ever. Mr. Rea is oiling his guns for the coming hunting season, both here and at the Red Star camp in Center county.

Mrs. Rea has been busily engaged in canning and stocking the fruit cellar.

Their friends and relatives are extending congratulations today to Mr. and Mrs. Rea on this happy occasion.

DEPARTMENT NAMES OPENING MEETING

Opening their fall activities, the International Relations department, of the Woman's club, will hold their first meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. J. L. Matthews, 205 Euclid avenue, at two o'clock.

Mrs. George W. Short is the chairman of this department.

Marsing Club

Mrs. Homer Miles of Cunningham avenue, entertained the members of the Marsing club on Monday evening.

Special guests were Miss Frances Cope and Miss Peg Kennedy. Cards were the pastime of the evening with Mrs. Ruth Anderson, Mrs. Elizabeth Mitchell and Mrs. Sara Thomas winning the prizes.

Plans were made for a tureen dinner to be held at the home of Mrs. Theodore Gunnett on Thursday, October 21.

Later in the evening the guests were invited to the dining room, where a delicious lunch was served by the hostess.

RUSSLER-KLEY WEDDING DETAILS

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd F. Russler of 712 Cleveland avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Kathryn, to Richard Howard Kley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Kley of Crawford avenue.

The couple was married Friday, October 8, in Martinsburg, W. Va., in the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Henri Thomson, at 6 o'clock by the Rev. John Ward Brown, pastor of the First Baptist church. The single ring ceremony was used. Only the immediate families and a few intimate friends attended the wedding.

Franklin Russler, brother of the bride, and Miss Gladys McNamara were the attendants.

Mr. and Mrs. Kley returned to New Castle Monday evening and will be at home to their friends in their newly furnished apartment at 218 Bellevue avenue.

Hold Surprise Party

A lovely birthday surprise party was held in honor of Miss Jeane Sitler of the Wright apartments, at the home of Miss Beatrice Saylor, Beckford street.

Jeane received many nice gifts. Following a delicious luncheon, the girls present decided to form a club, and they elected officers.

Special guests included: Jean Moffett, Betty Rowland, Mary Hall, Margaret Hickey, Betty Whieldon Ruth Bradford, Dorothy Rowland, and Shirley Gilmore.

FULKERSON-DALY WEDDING TODAY

St. Mary's church was the scene of a very pretty autumn wedding this morning, when Miss Helen Ann Fulkerson, daughter of Mr and Mrs. John Fulkerson of 5 Cliff street, became the bride of John E. Daly, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Daly, 317 North Lafayette street. The vows were exchanged at 9:30 o'clock in the presence of a large assemblage of guests of the couple, with the Rev. Fr. P. J. McKenna, officiating, with the Rev. Fr. William F. Galvin, assisting, the latter celebrating the nuptial mass.

The bridal party stood before the beautiful sacred altar, embanked with flowers of the season, and set off with lighted candles in branching candlebrum, adding further to the impressiveness and solemnity of the occasion.

Attired in a Windsor blue velvet dress made street length, with turbin and harmonizing accessories, the bride was most attractive. A new note in autumnal weddings was her wrist bouquet of gardenias and valley lilies. Miss Gertrude Ann Quinn was maid of honor and her only attendant. She wore a cedar velvet creation, patterned on tailored lines, also made street length. Her turbin and accompaniments matched. A wrist bouquet of Johanna Hill roses completed her ensemble.

A short congratulatory period followed in the church, and afterwards, a wedding breakfast was served at a prominent tea room. Covers marked for members of the immediate families and bridal party, with the nuptial motif predominating in all details.

The bride who is associated with the Bell Telephone Company, was graduated from Union High school. She has been feted at a number of lovely parties since news of her engagement has been made known, and an array of many beautiful gifts have been received by the young couple, further testifying to the high esteem which they are held. The groom is affiliated with the Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company. He was graduated from New Castle high school.

Later in the day, the newlyweds departed on an extended wedding trip and will be "at home" after November 1, in their newly furnished residence at 319 North Lafayette street. For going away, the bride wore a green costume suit, with brown accessories.

RACHAEL REBEKAH LODGE INSTALLATION

The I. O. O. F. Hall was the scene of an interesting meeting on Monday night, when members of the Rachael Rebekah Lodge assembled for the installation of officers. Mrs. Minnie Swick, district deputy president of Ellwood City and her home corps of officers, performed the installation duties in a most efficient manner.

Those installed, were: noble-grand Mrs. Bertha Daugherty; vice-grand, Mrs. Helen Ray; warden, Mrs. Anna Fenton; chaplain, Mrs. Sadie Smith; recording secretary, Mrs. Ninnie Howard; financial secretary, Mrs. Florence Gillespie; treasurer, Mrs. Ann Young; inside guardian, Mrs. Celia McKenzie; outside guard, Mrs. Lula Schetrom; musician, Mrs. Marie Hill; right supporter to noble grand, Mrs. Lucy Pettitt; left supporter to noble grand, Mrs. Marie Roof; right supporter to vice-grand, Mrs. Jennie Smith; left supporter to vice-grand, Mrs. Minervia Carr. Other offices filled, were; chairman of the social committee, Mrs. Lucy Pettitt; entertainment chairman, Marie Roof.

Visitors were present from Ellwood City and Washington, Pa., a social time spent informally and getting better acquainted with one another, filled in the time until a late hour. Refreshments were a later pleasure, with Mrs. Mildred Campbell, chairman, and her group of aides, serving. The hall and dining room, were transformed into a colorful autumn setting with decorations.

Next meeting, will be held October 25, at the same place. The same hours will be observed.

T. O. T. Club

Miss Rose Ritchie, Rose avenue, was a gracious hostess to members of the T. O. T. club recently. The group whiled away the time playing cards, listening to music and discussing topics of the day.

Prizes were awarded to Miss Coletta Priesell and Miss Kay Ritchie. Mrs. Esther Ritchie, a special guest, won the galloping prize. During the usual business session, plans were made for the next meeting which will be in the form of a Hallowe'en party. Miss Coletta Priesell, Etna street, will be hostess, the date being Wednesday night, October 20.

At an appointed time the hostess served a delicious luncheon. The occasion proved most enjoyable.

Reunited Ladies League.

Reunited Ladies League members will meet Thursday at the home of Mrs. John Sonntag, East Washington street.

CURRENT CLASS HAS OPENING LUNCHEON

Mrs. J. Johnson Fisher entertained members of the Current Events class at a local tea room Monday afternoon for their first fall meeting. A luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, after which Owen P. Fox gave an interesting and instructive talk, choosing "Indians" as his subject.

The retired president, Mrs. J. E. Duff, called the business meeting to order. After a short talk she handed the gavel to the new president, Mrs. Frank Woods, who presided for the remainder of the session.

Mrs. Woods announced the federation meeting which will take place on October 27 in the First Presbyterian church. She made the following appointments for representation in the Federation: education, Miss Kate Stockman; fine arts, Mrs. Joseph Pyle; legislative, Mrs. John Whitten; conservation, Miss Clara Johnson.

In the class, the flower committee was appointed as follows: Mrs. John Butz, Mrs. E. A. Fenton and Miss Molly Davis. The critic for the year is Mrs. Leslie Wilson.

There were 21 present at the meeting, including three guests. The next meeting will be held at the home of Miss Nora Hough, of Neshannock avenue, on October 25.

NURSES HAVE SHOWER FOR RECENT BRIDE

Monday evening a group of the nurses of Jameson Memorial hospital were entertained in the home of Miss Grace Parker, Highland Heights, in honor of one of their coassociates, Mrs. Oscar Levine, nee Betty Blackford, whose marriage was recently announced.

The occasion took the form of a linen shower, and the honoree was the recipient of a collection of many lovely gifts.

Throughout the evening, contests and stunts were featured, with Elizabeth Taylor, Mrs. Margaret Dagnon and Mary Adams winning the prizes.

At a later hour an appetizing lunch was served by the hostess, with Jessie Kildoo, Blanche Renick and Mrs. Martha Parker aiding. Novel favors were distributed to each participant as additional mementos of the occasion.

C. T. P. GROUP MEETS AT HOME OCTOBER 20

The tureen luncheon for members of the C. T. P. group of the B. and O., will take place on Wednesday afternoon, October 20, their regular time, in the dining room of the American Legion home, according to announcement made today by chairman, Mrs. J. F. Titus.

Activities following the serving will be featured with an election of officers, and complete reports of the past year. Bingo and a social period will conclude the entertainment.

L. A. B. Club

Mrs. Lucy Covert, of East Washington street, will entertain members of the L. A. B. club Friday evening instead of Mrs. James Grove as previously announced.

EAST SIDE CLUB LUNCHEON-PROGRAM

East Side Garden club members, will be received in the home of Mrs. David M. Ritchie on South Mill street, Wednesday afternoon, October 13, for a social time and luncheon event.

Following the serving of the menu at 1 o'clock, a program will feature, when two interesting papers will be given. The first on "Winter Stories of Bulbs and Tubers" will be contributed by Mrs. James Kennedy. Second, Mrs. Katherine McEntire will read an article on "Care and Culture of Chrysanthemums."

In answer to roll-call, members will name "A winter Begonia".

MISS UHL ADDRESS C. D. OF A. MEMBERS

Featuring Monday evening's meeting of the C. D. of A., Court Theresa Irene No. 231, held in the K. of C. hall, was an educational address by Miss Rose Uhl, who told about her recent visit abroad.

Miss Uhl, in a most interesting manner, spoke about her visit in France, England, Germany, Italy, and other points of interest. The address was comprehensive and thoroughly enjoyed by the gathering. During the business session, plans were formed for a Hallowe'en party to be held on Monday evening, October 25, in the K. of C. hall. Mrs. Mary Geddis was named as chairlady.

BIBLE CLASSES HAVE TUREEN DINNER PARTY

The Martha Dodds Bible class and the Glenn Lennin Bible class, of the Reformed Presbyterian church held a joint party at the church Monday evening. About 30 attended.

A tureen dinner was served at 7 o'clock by candlelight in the church basement. There were a few impromptu speeches around the table after which an informal social evening was spent, the group playing various games.

Mrs. Joseph McCaskey had charge of the arrangements for the party.

NEED TO GO SLOWLY

FROM the standpoint of international morality, there can be no doubting the soundness of President Roosevelt's Chicago speech or of the pronouncement by the State Department. Japan has violated the spirit, if not the letter, of the Kellogg-Briand peace treaty. She has ridden roughshod over the terms of the Nine Power Pact.

Under the circumstances, it is reasonable for the United States, as a signatory of both agreements, to remind Japan in no uncertain terms that the invasion of China has been inconsistent with the principles contained therein.

However, the United States should guard against a too easy acceptance of the role of moral stooge for other powers which, in recent months, have been putting on a fancy exhibition of ethical juggling and idealistic temporizing.

Up to now the Roosevelt Administration has merely endorsed action taken by the League of Nations, and it must be obvious that this kind of co-operative aid should constitute the limit of our verbal interference in the Far Eastern conflict.

The American people are not disposed to get into a war on foreign soil. They would frown upon diplomatic exchanges threatening to precipitate military or naval moves of an aggressive nature.

What the President and the State Department should guard against is the development of a situation that would involve the United States in hostilities over the solution of a problem distinctly international in character.

Events leading up to American participation in the World War are a stern reminder of the dangers entailed in the repeated enunciation of high-sounding moral principles. The debtor nations of Europe should not be allowed craftily to maneuver us into comparable entanglements with respect to Oriental affairs.

STRAINED RELATIONS

With the perpetual riddle of existence, to say nothing of so many other human problems that remain unsolved, such as the inevitable rain after one has washed the car, it would seem that Mrs. Minnie Orsborn of New Carlisle, Indiana, might have refrained from posing such a jig-saw puzzle in family relationships.

She has not only become her own stepmother by marrying her late mother's second husband, but simultaneously has become the wife of her father-in-law, as she had previously married the son, now deceased, of her stepfather. Since Mrs. Orsborn has a child by her former marriage, her second husband becomes the step-father of his own grandchild.

When the census taker again calls at the Orsborn homestead he should have an interesting time trying to unscramble this genealogical omelette.

PROMOTING PUBLIC HEALTH

The history of the public health movement in this country is largely the history of the American Public Health Association, holding its 69th annual convention in New York. Its first president was Dr. Stephen Smith, whose revelations of the appallingly insanitary conditions responsible for New York's typhus fever outbreak in 1864 resulted two years later in the city's establishing its first regular board of health. Yet at that time Manhattan proper had a population of nearly 900,000.

For the great advance in hygiene and sanitation through investigation, education and regulation the major share of the credit belongs to this association. It has taken a leading part in all preventive and curative measures for public health betterment. Never relaxing in its efforts, it has scores of committees at work, studying problems of sewage disposal, water pollution, nutrition, school health, industrial diseases and the like.

The association's work is written large on the record of public-spirited service.

WINDSOR AND LINDBERGH

The Duke of Windsor's projected visit to the United States will bring to this country one, who a few short years ago, was the most popular figure in the British Empire.

Meanwhile, England has been host to an American, who, a decade back, rivalled the British prince as a popular idol. Colonel Charles Lindbergh has been sojourning on the British Isles for some time now and may make his stay there permanent. His every word and action, however, is no longer news but this state of affairs is, no doubt, satisfactory to him. Before he left America, he had grown weary of public attention. He went to England to seek seclusion.

If the Duke of Windsor and his bride expect to get out of the limelight by coming to America, they are badly mistaken. They have been too well publicized and are still big news. Crowds are certain to dog their steps every time they venture out in public. Well bastioned and well guarded, indeed, must be their places of residence here if they are to escape the prying eyes of curious throngs.

The Lindberghs fled from America to get away from the spotlight's glare and obviously, the Windsors will step into the very center of that glare when they set feet upon America's shores.

Japan says the Chinese have displayed "arrogance." That's certainly a new way of characterizing the art and science of self-defense.

A Rhode Islander asks a divorce because his wife forced him to wear his work clothes on Sunday. The chap apparently is one of the few remaining dudes with a suit of Sunday clothes.

The cost of the depression has been placed at $149,000,000,000. Boy, when we have depressions we certainly have 'em.

News pictures from China, indicate that insofar as the net results are concerned there is no real difference between a declared and a undeclared war.

Now that college football is in full swing, it's about time for an official report on commercialization, over-emphasis and the hazards of the flying tackle.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

SUPPORTING FAMILY PROBLEM

Suppose you were the mother who writes the following letter:

"Dear Mr. Myers: I've been reading your column for a long while now and find it very interesting. You've helped so many others that I thought maybe one more on your list would not be very much.

"I was 30 years old last April and I have seven children, ages 12, 11, 7, 6, 5, 2 years and 8 months and 1½.

What I'd like to know is: do all the families like ours with a rather small income have the difficulties we have? For the last six or seven years my husband's pay averaged about $24. Within the last few months he's been making a fairly good week's pay on the average of $32. All this time bills have been piling up and by the time I pay the rent, household expenses, bills including a loan, it leaves me with not more than $9, and quite often less, that's supposed to buy food for nine people, buy clothes, pay for my husband's haircuts every two weeks.... Now will you tell me of any way to crawl out of this Chinese puzzle?... I'm sure I've tried hard enough.

"My nerves are bad, physical condition run down, and three of my children the same as myself. The rest of them seem to be able to take it better.

"There are a good many times when the children ask me for a second helping: I let a yell out of me, saying they can't have it, and then I could sit down and cry to think that I have to deprive them of food.

Knows How To Feed Family

"It isn't because I don't know how to feed them, because I've received two or three prizes of $5 each just by working out well balanced menus for children; that's my hobby. I'm always reading on child welfare and health, but how, oh how, am I going to make out a well balanced menu on $8 or $9 for nine people? will you tell me that? I can't.

"My husband turns over his pay check to me and doesn't expect any of it back. We have our radio for enjoyment, but outside of that we spend about $2 a year on shows.

"I just wanted to give you an idea how we have to live. I'm not really feeling sorry for myself, but it's the children I'm thinking about.

"I've brought them up quite well though; they are very religious; they attend church regularly. They respect their elders, keep themselves clean and neat, and help me quite a bit. So you see with all my hardships, I have the good side to offset it."

Isn't it too bad this mother does not have adequate income for this fine family? She seems to have the stuff of character that makes great mothers and leaves a rich spiritual heritage to their children. While we kiow she would not want to part with a single one of these fine children, you and I wish she and her husband had chosen not to bring quite so many of them into the world in the face of the very limited income; and we trust that no more will be added. Since these children are here, it would appear to be good investment by any state or nation to subsidize this family. We hope some of the more comfortable families of her church will choose to help her. Suppore you were in her place.

THAT COLUMBIA RIVER DAM

A trainload of cement and seven trainloads of sand and gravel are poured each day into the maws of giant concrete mixers at Grand Coulee Dam, where an entirely new set of construction records are being made.

The Bureau of Reclamation records show that almost 3,500,000 cubic yards of concrete have been placed in the dam, which is about a year ahead of schedule. With excavation completed, the M.W.A.K. company, the contractor, is concentrating on placement of concrete, operating two mixing plants, one on the west and the other on the east wall of the Columbia river canyon.

The present contract, covering the construction of the foundation of Grand Coulee Dam to a height averaging about one hundred seventy-seven feet above bedrock, is expected to be completed around January 1. The Bureau of Reclamation has in preparation specifications for a new contract, under which the dam will be completed to its full height of five hundred fifty feet.

New records have been hung up for manufacture and pouring of concrete in one day several times at Grand Coulee Dam, and the world's record established during the con-

DEAR MISS ..RKEL: Please give me some advice on placing living room furniture, also how to avoid the monotony of a straight-line arrangement. PEG.

Answer: First, place al of your larger pieces. Set them so that they parallel the lines of your walls. Then place your smaller pieces. Do not have your furniture look as if it were glued to the walls, except, possibly, in rooms used as passageways which should be clear at all times.

Almost every room will allow the furniture to be set out somewhat from the walls.

You may have an occasional corner piece set diagonally, but as a general rule the cater-cornered habit should be avoided.

Put your most important piece of furniture in the most conspicuous place and build your room around it.

Do not place furniture in front of doors or in any place that will necessitate stepping around it.

If you have a table, place it against a wall and not in the center of the floor.

Move your furniture around, arranging and rearranging it until you have reached a pleasing and satisfactory effect.

Recall Of Judges Again Issue.
Woman Would Put Layman On Bench.
Letter Writers Speak For Black.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

THE UPROAR over Justice Black may result in a greater agitation over the supreme court than had been contemplated. There are rumblings again of a demand for recall of judges—and perhaps election of judges, or appointment of judges merely for a stated term.

This issue, incidentally, has arisen all through American history. Jefferson, prior to being in the presidency, feared the Federalist judges who had been named previously. In office, his own liberal appointees to judgeships suffered attack from the Federalists—who overreached themselves in the viciousness of their opposition to Jefferson and perished.

Jackson, balked by the court, also tried to have it made over...

The court would not be so much an issue if it could be more representative of the people and each changing age, if its members could be held responsive, its critics assert.

There are no possible means of taking a vote on Justice Black. Or, for that matter, on any other member of the court.

But suppose a vote could be taken now on Justice Black? It would be a mob vote—either side. The nation may gain if tempers are permitted to cool, and calm reason returns.

Such seems to be the view of cautious observers.

WHY A LAWYER?

A woman has asked this column, "Why must a lawyer be appointed to the supreme court?"

There is nothing in the constitution requiring a lawyer. Then, why not a layman?

But let the woman go on—

"A lawyer is narrowed by his profession. He knows little of the actualities of life. He lives largely by technicalities and wits. His understanding is theoretical, his vision seldom is broad, and he sees nothing wrong in hiring his intellect to the highest bidder."

That is a terrible indictment. Even, however, if none of it is true, why not a layman on the bench?

Legal technicalities have brought more than one nation to the brink of ruin. Today they are causing the courts to drift farther and farther from the people. But how can the courts be brought "close to the people" and still not be subject to stampedings? That was a question, incidentally, brought up at the constitutional convention.

LETTERS

Letters to newspapers outside New York concerning the Black matter seem to favor Black. I have read many from all parts of the nation. Here is a fairly representative letter. It is one taken from the Cleveland Plain Dealer:

"Senator Norris says that Klan or no Klan, the Senator Black appointment is a good one. The veteran statesman is splendid authority on true Americanism and democratic government.

"Senator Black's entire public career has been one of fidelity to the public interest. He has been a true liberal in every sense of the word. There is not one iota of evidence that his reputed Ku Klux Klan membership fifteen years ago has ever influenced his judgment as a legislator and public servant. On various committees in the senate he has been eminently fair to Negroes, Gentiles, Catholics and Jews.

"If Black is disqualified on account of Ku Klux affiliations why did his foes allow him to serve in that august body, the United States senate, without a protest? For several years, as author and sponsor of labor legislation he has been in the limelight at Washington. Not until his appointment to the court was there any question in any quarter of his Americanism.

"In the 1924 presidential race John W. Davis, Democratic nominee, denounced the Ku Klux Klan and Calvin Coolidge chose to remain neutral. The metropolitan press in the east supported Coolidge for re-election with the same zeal as they now oppose Black. Where was their Americanism in the hey-day of the Ku Klux Klan?

"The overwhelming majority of the people favor Senator Black's appointment. That was proven in New York City, the hotbed of anti-Ku Kluxism, very recently, when Senator Copeland, running on an anti-Black platform, was overwhelmingly defeated.

"The great mass of the people, like the president, are dedicated to a more liberal interpretation of the Constitution. The people can no more be fooled by the Black episode than by the resurrection of the full dinner pail issue. Both are dead, while Black is alive with the economic viewpoint of a changing world.

"For the president to turn his back on Black now would be a surrender to reactionaries, who do not fear the hooded mask nearly as much as they want the robes of privilege. FRED C. MURPHY.

TUESDAY, OCT. 12

Once Upon Oct. 12—Accurately calculated according to the Gregorian calendar, Columbus actually got his first view of the western world which he mistook for China, on October 21, 1492. On October 12, therefore, he was still at sea, and still not certain he would ever see land again.

(We observe Washington's birthday, the signing of the Declaration of Independence and Columbus Day all on the wrong days!)

Dozens of similar inaccuracies could be pointed out in the popular body of beliefs about the explorer, but probably there is no way to erase them. The lepend Queen Isabella pawned her jewels to finance Columbus' trip is so widely accepted, that serious attention was given recently to a story that the much-marrying ex-crown prince of Spain had hocked again some of the actual crown jewels upon which Isabella herself raised money for Columbus: Yet it was established many years ago that Isabella's jewels were in pawn before Columbus appeared at court with his proposition, and that the necessary financing was done by Luis Santangel, royal chancellor, and other Jews.

This is one of the few historical statements about what led to that epochal first voyage of Columbus that can be proven substantially. His nationality still is a mystery. There are no authentic portraits of him, to show what he looked like. In fact about the only unquestionable thing that can be safely said about his life before 1492 is that he was alive.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Japanese Are In Predicament

Believe Government Has Bitten Off More Than It Can Chew

MILITARISTS ARE FEARED

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Japan's government is in a bad pickle.

It has bitten off more than it can chew. Yet, in a way, it had to attempt the mouthful. Disapprove of their behavior as one may, the fact remains that the mikado's subjects are so increasingly numerous that they have got to have more room or begin falling off their islands.

And no additional room is available unless they take it away from someone else, if possible.

So that was the policy which their government adopted.

BITING OFF TOO MUCH?

Now, as previously remarked, the mouthful is proving to be exceedingly difficult, to say the least, for the islanders properly to masticate.

For one thing, the modern Chinese have turned out to be unexpectedly hard to lick. Had the Japanese succeeded in assimilating their morsel at one quick swallow, all would have been well, from their standpoint.

But they did not thus succeed.

It is evident that they must chew and chew and chew. And Nippon has not the economic capacity to continue such expensive chewing for very long.

NO AID

Anyway, they cannot keep on chewing with most of the rest of the world trying to handicap them.

Today it appears that the really civilized countries of the earth are inclined to deny them the supplies essential to enable any people to maintain an international chewing match.

Germany and Italy sympathize with Japanese chewing, but they haven't much to offer in the way of supplies to keep it going.

WHAT'S TO BE DONE?

All of which is nearly enough to make the Japanese government choke.

One would say, off-hand, that its remedy would be to spit out its bite.

In the first place, as observed before, this would mean that its overpopulation would have to resume spilling over into the ocean.

In the second place, the Tokio government has spent a barrel of money in China, and has got to show results for it, or it will have a revolution on its hands.

THREE CLASSES IN JAPAN

Japan (I've lived there) has three classes:

1. A governmental class, inclusive of some real statesmen.

2. A military class, with the same kind of intelligence as a wildcat's.

3. Ordinary folk, a class pretty thoroughly saturated with communistic philosophy. The governmental class is afraid of the ordinary folk and the military class. The military class isn't afraid of anything, including buzz-saws, so venomous is its hatred of anything remotely smelling of liberality.

MILITARISTS INDEPENDENT

The governmental class has sense. But in Japan the militarists are entirely independent of the civil government. If the militarists don't like what the secretary of state, or some other cabinet member, is doing, they send around and kill him.

They kill, for example, the secretary of the treasury, if he cannot finance a war in which they are engaged. They have done it.

Accordingly, nobody can tell what Japan will do.

It may look suicidal, but the Japanese are liable to do it.

Russia Continues Wholesale Purge

MOSCOW, Oct. 12.—Soviet Russia's new long-term prison sentences, designed to make the protracted purge more lenient, was applied for the first time today when a convicted "wrecker" was given a 20-year sentence at Kuibyshev.

Two others, however, were executed by firing squads. Another was sentenced to ten years' imprisonment.

Four more were shot at Tikhoretsky, charged with grain sabotage.

Many convicted saboteurs are expected to be saved from death by the new law which changes the maximum imprisonment term from 10 to 25 years.

NEW CASTLE WORKS BOWLING LEAGUE

The New Castle Works Bowling League will inaugurate its bowling season on Friday evening, October 8, 1937 at the Castle Bowling Alleys. Following is a list of the teams and captains:

Roll Turners, captain, H. Gregor.
Hot Mill, captain, W. Smith.
Annealing, captain, J. Allsopp.
Mechanical, captain, P. McGaffic.
General Office, captain, George Gregor.
Black Pickling, captain, C. McGaffic
Cold Rolls, captain, Cartwright.
Wareroom, captain, Beshero.

This will be the 17th season for the New Castle Works Bowling League and the boys are looking forward to a fine time on the alleys.

PENSIONERS

New Castle now has 395 members of the United States Steel and Carnegie Pension Fund.

This number is divided between the now dismantled Steel Mill and the New Castle Works and Shenango Works of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation.

This fund was established by Andrew Carnegie and the United States Steel Corporation and began to function in January 1911, and is known as the "United States Steel and Carnegie Pension Fund". The original gift and appropriation was eight million dollars. Pensioners requirements have long since outgrown this figure until at the present time the annual pension payment is in excess of eight million dollars.

FISH AND FISHING

When a fish, after being fairly caught, landed and tied securely with a chain stringer, gets away—how can an ordinary angler expect to catch any fish? Tom McArthur, Power House Engineer, and Pete Presnar, Armature Winder in the Electric Shop, caught a large salmon (wall-eye) in French Creek, and after tying their fish kept right on fishing. When it came time to call it a day and go home, they went to where the fish was tied but the "wall-eye" had departed with a part of the stringer. Thus we hear of "another big one that got away." Try again boys!

FOOTBALL

On Saturday, November 7, 1936 occurred a pleasant visit to Martins Ferry we cannot forget. A stalwart band of trained to the minute athletes representing the colors of New Castle High, headed by Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh, Ralph Gardner and their corps of assistants, together with the New Castle High Band, detrained in the city of Martins Ferry, O. to do battle with the "Purple Riders."

Accompanying the band of footballers were hundreds of their faithful following who filled the special train for the occasion to overflowing among them being hundreds of employes of the local plants of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Corporation.

The rousing welcome accorded the Tin City folks by the "Ferryites" will long live in the memory of those who were there and for the benefit of those who were unfortunate enough to miss the festivities, we would remind you that the first person our eyes fell upon, and whose hand we clasped, was our old friend and dyed-in-the-wool fan, Earl Thompson, General Superintendent of the Laughlin Works. Earl is an ex-New Castleite—a big booster for Ne-Ca-Hi, and at one time his son Lawrence, also associated with our company at Martins Ferry, played quarter-back for the Red and Black.

These Red Hurricane-Purple Rider battles are more than just football games. We are hoping that the game will become an institution, as never in our experience have we received such a warm welcome, hospitality and courteous treatment as was shown us by the city officials, members of the school board and the general citizenry of Martins Ferry.

Next Saturday, October 16th, the Red Hurricane will be hosts to the "Purple Riders" at Taggart Stadium. Thus we are going to have an opportunity to repay the folks of Martins Ferry, their football team and coaching staff for all the good things they did for us. This will be the third struggle for football supremacy, and we are willing to wager (within reason) that the gentlemen pulling hardest for Martins Ferry will be Earl Thompson, and the men right next to him urging on the sons of Ne-Ca-Hi will be our own General Superintendents, Carl E. Crawford and R. E. Sturdy. However, we are impressed with the high type of sportsmanship displayed by both the "Purple Riders" and the "Red Hurricane"—they "can take it" when they lose, and can "hand it out" when they win.

This is, to a certain extent, a Carnegie-Illinois game, as there is a lot of friendly rivalry industrially between the personnel of the plants in both cities, and naturally this will be reflected in the result of the game.

We also understand there will be added features for the entertainment of the large crowd which is sure to be on hand for this game—one of the big games of the season. It should be a "natural" as both teams have suffered one defeat each—Youngstown East Hi defeating New Castle Hi, 6-0, and Martins Ferry Hi losing to Wheeling Hi last Saturday 6-0. Whether we win or lose, let's show them the same type of sportsmanship which prevailed in the two preceding contests.

We know that every employee of our plants will do everything possible to show the Martins Ferry fans that we are also a hospitable and courteous city and that we appreciate the splendid time they showed us last year, and while we want the "Red Hurricane" returned the victors, we shall not begrudge a loss to a real high school ball club such as Martins Ferry. May the better team win and the best of feeling prevail regardless of the result.

SHENANGO WORKS BOWLING LEAGUE

The Shenango Works Bowling League got off to a flying start on Thursday evening, October 7, 1937 at 7:30 p. m. at the Castle Alleys. After bowling a "Dutch Lunch" was served wherein a fine spirit of fellowship prevailed. The boys are looking forward to their best bowling season. The line-up of teams and captains is as follows:

General Office; captain, Rowles.
Hot Mill; captain, Smith.
Mechanical; captain, Koonce.
Black Plate; captain, Rice.
Cold Rolls; captain, Kerr.
Annealing; captain, Shaklee.
Tin House; captain, R. McBride.
Boxing Room; captain, Lennig.

NOTES

PLAN MEMORIAL TO FAMED AIRMEN

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9.—A memorial to three famous aviators will be erected at the Allegheny County Airport. The memorial will be dedicated to Samuel P. Langley, pioneer in the field of aviation, who taught at the University of Pittsburgh; Col. William Thaw, war-time flier and member of the famous Lafayette Escadrille; and Galbraith Rodgers, the first man to fly across the continent, and later victim of the World War.

The love of money is also the root of yellow streaks.

NEW CASTLE CHAPTER O. E. S. PARTY FRIDAY

An active season of social events, is much in evidence for New Castle chapter, No. 105, Order of the Eastern Star, inasmuch as their card and bingo party held Monday evening, was especially well attended, despite other attractions throughout the city. Mrs. Doris E. Sankey is worthy matron of the chapter, and Henry Jackson, worthy patron.

Card playing followed their regular lodge meeting, the contents being staged in the West dining room. A large number of tables of players, competed for honors, prizes going to the following: Mesdames Bess Hodge, Confer, Anna King, I. C. Burkholder, Gaston, White, Nettie Lewis and Elizabeth Boyles.

The handsome door prize, was awarded to Mrs. Jack Dunlap.

In bringing the evening to a close, a menu of delicious refreshments, was served by Mrs. Emma Franmpton and her committee of aides. The card committee chairman was Mrs. Elsie Johnston and the bingo was in charge of Mrs. Hazel Boyd.

BAKER-RUMMELL INVITATIONS OUT

Invitations have been issued for the wedding of Miss Jane Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Fawcett Baker, Brookline, Pittsburgh, and Charles Edson Rummell, Boyles avenue, this city, the ceremony to take place on Friday evening, October 29, in the United Presbyterian church, Brookline, Pittsburgh, Pa. The hour is 7:30 o'clock.

A reception will follow immediately afterwards in the St. Clair Country club, Pittsburgh.

Circulating Book.

The Circulating Book club will be entertained at a down town tea room at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

EAST BROOK CLUB TOURS COOK'S FOREST

Mrs. Earl Pettit, Everett Kennedy, Robert Waddington, and George Young, as special guests, and sixteen members of the East Brook Garden club made the trip to Cook's forest on Monday.

The trip was made by automobile and, although it was foggy when the pilgrimage left East Brook at 7:15 o'clock, the group enjoyed the early morning drive over the mountains. Mere words or an artist's paint brush could not describe the beautiful coloring of the leaves through the mountains.

Upon reaching Cook's forest, dinner was cooked on an outdoor stove. The committee in charge of this was Mrs. F. J. Waddington, Mrs. Everett Kennedy, and Mrs. Paul Wilson.

After dinner, a hike was taken up Longfellow trail, and later, many of the group climbed to the top of the observation tower. A hike was also taken over Seneca trail, a thrill for nature lovers.

The day was made complete when the party saw a deer on the highway while on the way home. They also stopped at Brady's Bend, on the way home, and climbed the tower there.

The pilgrimage committee includes Mrs. Charles Black, and Mrs. W. O. Mayberry, to whom much credit is due for the success of the trip.

DOUT-CALLAHAN NUPTIALS TOLD

A beautiful wedding took place in St. Mary's church on Thursday morning, October 7, when Miss Agnes Dout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Dout, of Berger street, and Eugene Callahan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Callahan, Sr., of Smithfield street, were united in marriage by the Rev. Fr. William F. Galvin.

The couple was attended by the groom's brother and sister, Ernest and Margaret Callahan.

The bride was attired in a gown of white satin and her flowers were bride's roses. Miss Callahan wore pink satin and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Dispensing with a wedding trip for the time being, Mr. and Mrs. Callahan will reside with the groom's parents on Smithfield street.

D. U. V. Tent Meeting

Daughters of Union Veterans, Tent 20, will hold a regular meeting on Thursday evening, at 7 o'clock, in the Modern Woodmen of America hall, Washington street.

COUNCIL OF JEWISH WOMEN OPEN SEASON

As a medium of launching their Fall activities, members of the National Council of Jewish Women, New Castle section, assembled in the private dining room of the Leslie hotel on Monday afternoon for a 1 o'clock luncheon.

A four-course menu was served at tables attractively decorated, and following, the group had the pleasure of hearing Mrs. J. R. Neale of New Wilmington, guest speaker. She is chairman of Consumers Research of American Association of University Women, and her message was worthwhile and interesting, dealing with "Intelligent Buying."

President, Mrs. William Cosel, gave the recorded account of the first meeting of the council in 1921, when they joined the national organization.

The new charter was accepted at this assembly, by Mrs. Marcus Feuchtwanger, and the new year books were distributed by Mrs. Norman Ehrlich, chairman. She also explained the many nice features planned for their year.

The regular business period ensued, when recommendations discussed at the recent board meeting, were heard. Next session will be held at Temple Israel on November 8.

PARTY HONORS FOR MRS. THELMA SMITH

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Weir, of 1207 South Jefferson street, entertained a large group of friends on Saturday in honor of Mr. Weir's sister, Mrs. Thelma Weir Smith, the occasion being her 19th birthday.

Games and music were the pastimes of the evening. The music was furnished by Mike Pascrella and Louis Rozzi. A vocal selection was given by Mrs. Smith, entitled "That Silver Haired Daddy of Mine".

Bingo prizes were awarded to Mrs. Esposito, Sara Merriman, Mrs. Cecil McConahy, Carl Russell, and Louis Rozzi.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostess, Mrs. Weir, assisted by Mrs. Stanley, Mrs. Earl Dout, Mrs. Cecil McConahy, and Mrs. Esposito. Appointments were carried out in orange and black throughout the home.

Mrs. Smith received many lovely gifts.

FRANCES FROST WED TO JAMES RHODES

A simple but impressive service this morning at 11:30 o'clock in the Mahoning Methodist church united in marriage Miss Frances Frost and James Rhodes. Rev. C. H. Hagadorn, pastor of the church, officiated at the ceremony, using the single ring service.

The only attendants of the bride and groom were Mr. and Mrs. Norman Grim. Miss Frost was attired in an attractive dark green suit, with brown accessories.

Miss Frost is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Frost of 412 Seventh street. She has been affiliated with the Elvira Sotus Beauty shop.

The groom is the son of Mrs. Lillian Rhodes of R. D. 7. He is affiliated with the Universal Sanitary Pottery company. The newlyweds will not take a wedding trip at present, but will be at home to friends at their newly furnished apartment at 29½ North Mill street.

BIRTHDAY PARTY HONORS NEIGHBOR

Friends and neighbors on Shaw street honored Mrs. J. L. Parsons on Monday evening at a surprise party when they gathered in her home in honor of her birthday anniversary.

About 35 attended the event. Out of town guests were Mrs. DeArmond of Wabash, Ind., and Mrs. Paul Charria of Evans City.

A delicious lunch was served by Mr. and Mrs. Rodenbaugh, Barbara Parsons, Virginia Rowland, Helen and Dorothy Hayes and Peg Kelly.

Mrs. Parsons received many lovely gifts in remembrance of the occasion.

Bride-Elect Honored

Sunday evening, at the Tiger's club, a shower was given in honor of Anna Morella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Morella, of Taylor street.

The room was beautifully decorated with Hallowe'en colors. About 100 guests were present and the door prize was won by Sylvia Lombardo

Dancing and music was enjoyed, the music being furnished by Anthony Morella, Ben DeCarbo, Carl De Carbo, Joseph Perrotta, Mike Perrotta, Mary Pasquarella and Helen Bernabine. A solo dance was given by Miss Alfreda Habib.

A delicious lunch was served by Mrs. John Pratt, Mrs. Ruben Pratt, Mrs. Frank Palumbo, Mrs. Stanley Litrenta, Miss Marie Morella, Rose Lovella, Carol Stagno, and Anita Passifume.

The bride-to-be received many lovely gifts. She will be married October 21 to Paul Pratt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominic Pratt, of Ellwood City.

Jewish Group Makes Plans For Campaign

United Jewish Appeal Campaign Begins On Sunday, October 31

SAM EDELSTEIN IS GENERAL CHAIRMAN

At a recent meeting held in the Cosmo Club, North Mercer street, preliminary plans were made for the annual United Jewish appeal campaign which includes the joint distribution committee and the United Palestine appeal. The campaign is scheduled to start on Sunday evening, October 31 at The Castleton.

The quota for New Castle has been set at $3,000. These organizations have as their aims the rehabilitation of persecuted Jewry and their re-settlement in Palestine.

The following have been selected as officers: honorary chairmen, Marcus Feuchtwanger and Dr. E. Kaplan; honorary vice-chairmen, Rabbi P. Katz, J. F. Perelman, Maurice Samuels and E. Shenkan; general chairman, Sam Edelstein; vice-chairmen, Dr. M. Davis, Dr. H. A. Frank, L. F. Kohn, L. Sandler; treasurer, L. Ruzewich; secretary, Rabbi N. H. Diamond.

The committee chairmen are: advance gifts, David Victor; publicity, Irvin Grossman; organizations, Mrs. L. Sandler; youth division, David Lerner. The executive committee will be announced in a few days.

Mr. Edelstein declared, "We hope to bring home to the Jews of New Castle the dire distress of their brethren in Central and Eastern Europe. We who live in a free country can not easily realize what it means to be deprived of elementary human rights. Socially, politically, and economically they have been ostracized.

"With help coming from America, many Jewish centers have been able to erect a new social structure, to educate their children, and to bolster the economic situation. This year the United Jewish Appeal must achieve more than ever before I am confident New Castle will not fail."

New Clocks Are Placed In Meters

Change Is Made In Mechanism Of Parking Meters In Use Here

Attaches of the parking meter company which sold meters to the city and which were installed and placed in operation last August, have during the past several days substituted a newer clock in all of the meters installed here, it was reported in city hall today.

Inasmuch as there were 437 meters installed, 437 new clocks were substituted for the other clocks. New clocks likewise were placed in the meters not yet installed but which will be, it was learned.

It is reported in city hall that the company made arrangements to make the substitution some time ago and an attache of the company arrived last week and completed the work within a few days.

The change was occasioned by the fact that some of the clocks became disarranged and this required policemen to travel to different sections removing old "heads" and placing new "heads".

The clocks represent the mechanism within the boxes and according to Mayor Charles E. McGrath not one of the new clocks went out of commission yesterday.

GETS PROMOTION

Donald Santee of East Washington street, assistant manager of Woolworth's, has been promoted to the company's store in Annapolis, Md., and will leave Wednesday to assume his new duties.

Shoes have gone feminine with fine stitching in new guise, pintucking, pipings, puffings and cordings. Nailhead and metal eyelets are used on the more practical models, while buckles and buttons, often leather covered, are used often on the side.

Captain Eyston

Driver of the "Thunderbolt", British speed creation, Captain George E. T. Eyston is pictured at Bonneville, Utah, ready for an attempt to better Sir Malcolm Campbell's 301-mile-an-hour automobile record.

After All Night In Jury Room, Jurors Disagree, Discharged

After being out all night, the jurors in the case of the Jose S. Rice Company, use Helen R. Dagon against Albert J. Reed, administrator in the estate of Robert A. Reed and others, reported to Judge W. Walter Braham at Lawrence county court this morning that they were unable to agree, and were discharged by the court.

The case was one in which Robert A. Reed had given the Rice company a note for $317 for the funeral expenses of his sister, Mrs. Margaret Trax. The defense claimed that the note which had been assigned by the Rice company to Helen R. Dagon, had been paid to Jose S. Rice, now deceased, but the judgment at the court house had never been satisfied.

The jury retired at noon on Monday, and after discussing the case from then until this morning, reported to Judge Braham that they were unable to agree.

Cars In Accident On Highland Ave.

Automobiles driven by W. C. Smith of R. D. 5 and P. L. Reeher, 140 Garfield avenue, were in a collision in Highland avenue at 10 o'clock last night. Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Short, 1460 Myrtle street, Long Beach, Cal., who were riding with Reeher were shaken up, according to a report made by police. Smith was examined by two physicians and found to be not intoxicated.

According to the report made to police, Smith was driving a car owned by William McCreary, R. D. 5, and was following the car driven by Reeher when the accident occurred.

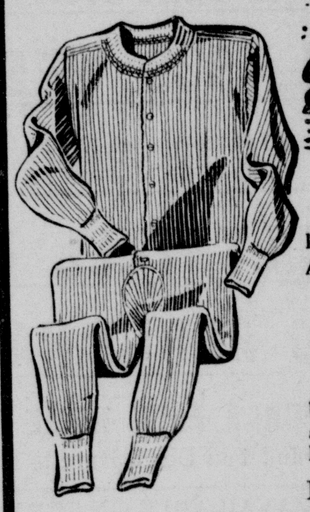

NUMEROUS DRUNKS TAKEN BY POLICE

Although no serious breaches of disorder occurred last night police were kept active in different sections of the city arresting intoxicated persons and some time today the prisoners will face Mayor Charles E. McGrath in police court.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

struction of Boulder Dam has been surpassed by about fifty per cent.

Before the dam in the Columbia river in eastern Washington was started, the most concrete which had ever been placed in a dam in one day was 10,642 cubic yards, the peak reached during construction of Boulder Dam. The record was exceeded at Grand Coulee Dam for the first time in May. The greatest single day's pour at Grand Coulee up to this time was made last month when 15,600 cubic yards were mixed and poured into the ever-rising forms. This record is not safe, however. During September a new high of 17,000 is expected soon after the last of the bedrock is covered.

Cement is now being received at the dam at the rate of about 95,000 barrels per week, or about sixty carloads a day. It comes from six cement plants scattered over the State of Washington.

Up to September 1, 15,295 carloads of cement had been received, enough to make a train one hundred forty-two miles long.

And all the power of the dam is to be brought into competition with Public Utilities Companies, now possessing more power than they can sell.

Large Apple Crop In Mercer County

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Oct. 12.—The all time record apple crop of Mercer county is reported of two contiguous orchards in Lackawannock township, the property of John Hughes and Mead Gibson.

The estimate is placed at 20,000 bushels of mixed winter varieties Hughes reports sales of 4,000 bushel and that amount of fruit, if not more, still on the trees. Gibson is selling his crop as fast as it can be moved. With every orchard of similar yield the market is unable to absorb the crop. It is feared that thousands of bushels of fruit will rot on the ground or trees due to the bountiful yield which old timers say is the top.

As a contrast of this abnormal yield the county potato crop is barely 25 per cent of normal. This due to blight.

Girl Scout Leaders Meet Last Evening

Looking forward to another progressive year, the New Castle Girl Scout Leaders Association met Monday evening in the Greer building headquarters.

The president, Mrs. Lillian Ward, was in charge. During the routine business period Miss Rita Metz was appointed to take care of the sale of used uniforms. Information on various publications suitable for Girl Scout use was presented to the leaders. Several members had made requests for new songs to be used in the troop leaders, and so a period was devoted to the learning of several selections, with Tish Ridgley and Mrs. Ward as the teachers.

On Monday, November 8, the leaders will meet again at the same place.

Garden Forum Meeting Held Monday Night

Staged At New Bedford; Complete Plans For Bird Show Friday And Saturday

New Bedford outdid itself on Monday evening when members of the Garden Forum of Lawrence County assembled in Town Hall for the regular monthly meeting.

For the occasion, Town Hall was dolled up with a profusion of late summer flowers and an abundance of berried shrubs, forming an ideal setting for the meeting. One of the highlights was a lecture by Mrs. Colin Campbell, of the New Bedford club, who spoke on the subject of the evening, "Spain's Contribution to America—Old Mission Garden." Mrs. Campbell spoke most interestingly Mrs. Ellis Harry, president of the New Bedford group, gav Kipling's poem, "The Glory of the Garden."

The roll call was answered by various groups presented, the call being, native trees, shrubs or plants growing here when Christopher Columbus landed.

Another of the highlights was a spelling bee. The bee pertained to botanical names. The contest was hotly contested throughout. After it was all over the East Side Garden Club representatives were victorious. The winners were Mrs. C. R. Brenner and Mrs. Harry Sturdevant.

Mrs. Agnes Howley, president of the Forum, presided during the business session. Plans were completed for this year's annual Bird Show, scheduled Friday and Saturday in the gymnasium of the George Washington junior high school. The affair will start Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock and continue until 9 o'clock that evening. The show will be open all day Saturday, starting at 9 and closing at 9 that evening. Garden clubs throughout the county will have displays.

GIRL SCOUTS

BLUE BONNET TROOP

Troop 4 held its regular meeting Monday afternoon in the Rose avenue school. The meeting opened with singing and games. Miss Dorothy Frey was a special guest.

Patrol corners were held and plans for a Hallowe'en party were discussed.

The meeting closed with singing and taps, followed by a court of honor.

Head Of Eagles Greets Class

Nearly 100 Candidates Join Eagles' Lodge Here On Monday Night

One of the largest classes ever to be inducted into the Fraternal Order of Eagles was obligated Monday night, October 11, with the grand worthy president, John W. Heller, of York, Pa., present. Nearly one hundred candidates accepted the oath and obligation of the organization.

In addition to the large class the building was crowded with members, there to witness the class induction and also to take part in the social activities which followed.

In addition to the grand worthy president, addresses were made by George E. Strine, state organizer, and a number of other visiting Eagles. A number of local men spoke. The induction service was in charge of the local worthy president, George Anthony.

Following the induction a dinner was served in the third floor of the building and a social time enjoyed until late in the evening.

BRITISH EMBASSY MOTOR CARS TARGET FOR JAP AIRPLANES

The incident was aggravated by the fact that one of the official cars bore a huge, freshly-painted Union Jack on its roof, clearly discernible from a heighth of half a mile.

Japanese Deny Notification

Japanese authorities, taken to task by British officials, denied they had been notified of the proposed trip. No one was injured in the attack.

According to British authorities the planes fired at the cars from a height of only three hundred feet. The attack occurred while the Japanese were carrying out large-scale bombing of Chinese defense lines.

A Japanese communique said a preliminary investigation showed the pilots of the attacking planes were unable to distinguish the markings of the British cars, which they supposed were occupied by high Chinese officers.

The communique pointed out the Chinese have been constructing elaborate fortifications in the Minghong region, which consequently were receiving "particular attention" from Japanese aerial units.

British Preserve Silence

British authorities immediately began an investigaton of the incident, which threatens to carry international dynamite, almost as explosive as the Japanese machine-gunning of British Ambassador Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen under similar circumstances some weeks ago.

For the present the British are preserving strict silence until results of a preliminary examination are known.

Japanese authorities, meanwhile, maintain the situation is different from the shooting of Sir Hughe, as the British embassy automobiles today were practically in the war zone, which was subjected to day-long bombing and machine-gunning.

But the British are unable to understand and the Japanese are unable to explain how a Japanese pilot could mistake the British flags on the automobiles, which were large enough to be identified from thousands of feet in the air.

Suit On Trial For Little Girl's Death

Case Of Mr. And Mrs. Paul A. Shiever Against Dorothy Abbott

Damages for the death of their six-year-old daughter, Marilyn Jean Shiever, are demanded in a suit taken up before Judge James A. Chambers at Lawrence county court this morning in which Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Shiever are plaintiffs and Dorothy Abbott, defendant.

The auto accident, causing the death of the little girl, happened at the intersection of Albert street and Sumner avenue, on June 25, 1937. Marilyn was going to the home of a neighbor and started to cross from the east to the west side of Albert street. When part way across she was struck by the bumper of the Abbott car, receiving injuries from which she died. The plaintiff's claim that the car operated by defendant was being driven at a dangerous rate of speed. The defendant denies this, and alleges that the child ran out from behind a parked automobile and that she was not seen in time to avert an accident.

Wisdom is the realization that you must be constantly on guard to avoid being a fool.

TWO B[illegible]ITS SHOT [illegible]O DEATH AT BANGOR, ME.

Sensing something was wrong, Brady—the gang leader—emerged from the car. One startled glance through the store window and he drew his pistol and began to fire through the glass.

Instantly the G-men, stationed behind the windows in the building across the street, opened fire with sub-machine guns, pistols and rifles.

Guns Rattle

Simultaneously guns began to rattle from cars in the vicinity, in which were seated police officers and G-men.

The neighborhood was immediately thrown into a state of great excitement as the bullets spattered all over the area.

Pedestrians in the vicinity scampered for cover. It was at a time when many white collar workers were on their way to their offices. Policemen appeared as if by magic and warned people to get out of the neighborhood.

Realizing he and his pals were trapped, Brady started to run. He was riddled with bullets and dropped in the middle of a car track, fifty feet from where the bandit car was parked.

Shaffer got out of the car, too. In a flash he was dropped by a barrage of lead.

In Principal Street

The scene of the battle was in Central street, a principal thoroughfare, just around the corner from city hall.

Less than five minutes after the shooting hundreds of people were in the downtown area—but well back of the scene.

The man who gave the tip to the local police that the Brady mob was frequenting Bangor was a clerk in the Dakin Sporting Goods Store.

When the tip was forwarded to Washington, a plane with eight G-men was rushed here. The federal agents loafed quietly here for several days, waiting for the gunmen to turn up again.

For at least six weeks the G-men had relentlessly pursued the Brady gang. Their activities were given nation-wide publicity last month following the dismissal of Captain Matt Leach, veteran head of the Indiana state police.

Leach's dismissal disclosed for the first time that Hoover had given orders to send the Brady gang "either to their graves or to prison." Hoover had accused Leach of failing to cooperate with his G-men.

The Brady gang had been trailed to Indiana, where they first opened their career of crime. This was after G-men had entered a downtown Baltimore, Md., office building, where they found more than 1,000 rounds of machine gun ammunition, automatic pistol clips, a mask and the holster and belt of an Indiana policeman killed following a bank robbery a year ago.

Homer S. Cummings, attorney-general of the United States, Hoover's superior, had posted a reward of $500 each for the arrest of Brady and his two henchmen.

The Brady gang was so dangerous G-men had orders to "shoot on sight." Just a year ago this time while the three were waiting trial for the murder of Sergeant Richard Rivers, Indianapolis policeman, they wrenched an iron bar from their jail cell window at Greenfield, Ind., and escaped after beating the sheriff unconscious and taking his gun—"A la Dillinger." They had committed innumerable crimes since and were listed by G-men as three of the most vicious desperadoes in the country.

Former Resident Buried At Meadville

Funeral services are being held today in Meadville, Pa., over the body of John L. Grieb, 65, a former resident of New Castle who died suddenly on Sunday, October 10.

Mr. Grieb was the father of Mrs. Earl C. Moffatt of 405 Florence avenue. Two other daughters, Mrs. John Thomas of Zelienople and Mrs. Raymond Davis of Meadville survive him and a son John L. Grieb, Jr., of Detroit, Mich.

Hurt In Crash On Butler Road

Clarence Handless, Harmony, R. D. 1, sustained lacerations of the head when the auto in which he was riding collided with a car driven by Roy W. Weisz, New Castle, R. D. 6, at 6:20 p. m., Monday. The accident occurred three miles east of this city on the Butler highway.

According to the state motor police, Handless was in the car of Russell T. Kerr, Harmony, R. D. 1.

The lights of Kerr's car blew out and he continued enroute toward a service station to have the lights replaced.

The police report says that Weisz was rounding a truck and could not see Kerr's car because the lights were out and a crash resulted.

50 YEARS OF PROGRESS

New Brand Of A. F. Of L. Seen At Denver Session

By EDWARD B. LOCKETT
International News Service Staff Correspondent

DENVER, Oct. 12.—A brand new American Federation of Labor was born today, with all the markings of a tough baby.

Gone was extreme mildness and caution of the old days. True, there was compromise, but for a reason—strategy. This federation believes, right or wrong, that John L. Lewis' CIO empire is breaking up. It will do its level best to help CIO disintegration along, and when and if it occurs, it will be there, willing and anxious to pick up the pieces.

Weans Itself On New Deal

And this suddenly reborn A. F. of L. which has swung along with President Roosevelt for months with no more than an ocassional murmur of discontent, suddenly weaned itself of the New Deal. Bluntly it branded as adverse to the federation, policies of Roosevelt agencies. Sharp notice was served that henceforth, "all political leaders" must choose between the A. F. of L membership and the minions of John L. Lewis, the "man on horseback."

So the record showed here, where the federation's 57th convention roared toward its end, in a fashion far, from normal reserve and inaction. The convention opened like a lamb, and was heading for a finish like the proverbial lion.

True, delegates adopted a resolutions report leaving ajar the door to peace with the ten suspended unions of the CIO, rejecting proposals of immediate expulsion. But that, fiery tongued leaders told delegates, was because they want those unions back when they desert the "greed and politics" of the CIO. That CIO unions will desert, the report confidently asserted, adding an open invitation for them to come back to the A. F. of L. fold.

Power To Expel C. I. O.

Moreover, the convention empowered its executive council to expel the CIO unions if all peace efforts fail. This power was handed to the executive council by a 25,616 to 1,227 vote, with directions to use it with discretion, but without hesitation.

Backing up this action were measures adopted for a ruthless campaign designed to alienate CIO supporters, and to break up any alliances A. F. of L. chieftains believe the Lewis faction may have sought or won from the Roosevelt administration. Chief weapon in this comprised a series of charges that administration agencies—principally the labor department, the labor relations board and in Michigan the WPA—have all shown prejudice for the CIO.

To Support Friends

A specific section of the resolutions report overwhelmingly voted into the federation's policy for the next year announced A. F. of L. antagonism to anything of the sort charged, saying:

"We recommend enlargement and strengthening of non-partisan political activities, so that the political strength of the A. F. of L. and its renewed determination to support its friends and defeat those in public office who would oppose its policies and programs, will embrace all who would in any way favor, encourage or support the CIO."

International News Service asked John P. Frey, metal trades president and secretary of the committee which drafted the resolutions report, if this applied to President Roosevelt to. He replied:

"That means all down the line—and all up the line."

The stiffening attitude of the A. F. of L. was vividly revealed in sharp attacks on the national labor relations board embraced in the report. This will be further revealed when the resolutions committee today makes its recommendations specifically on the labor board. That report will caustically brand the labor board as frequently unfair to the A. F. of L. and in favor of the CIO, and will demand radical changes in the law.

SEVENTH WARD NEWS

Accident On Mt. Jackson Hill Monday

Mr. And Mrs. Frank Smith Injured In Mishap With Truck Monday Afternoon

While descending the Mount Jackson hill Monday afternoon, an automobile, driven by Herbert M. Noss, of Cumberland avenue, and carrying Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Smith of North Wayne street, featured in a mishap with a truck travelling in the same direction as their machine.

The car driven by Noss was returning to New Castle from Willard, O., where the party had been visiting relatives for several days. They were coming down the hill behind a truck. Another motorist coming up the hill in the opposite direction cut out of line and attempted to pass a number of cars on the hill.

The truck driver applied his brakes and succeeded in bringing his truck to a halt and over to the side of the road. The car driven by Noss was unable to stop so quickly and crashed into the back of the truck.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith were both injured by flying glass and the impact of the crash which pushed the motor back to the front seat. Both received leg injuries, and cuts and bruises about the head. The driver of the car escaped without injury. The other machine which was to blame for the accident failed to stop.

After being treated by a physician for their injuries, Mr. and Mrs. Smith returned to their home at 17 North Wayne street.

Bears Schedule Game For Sunday

On Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, members of the Wabash Bears football team will meet the strong Frisco team on the E. A. field in Mahoningtown, for what promises to be a fast and exciting game.

This announcement was made today by the Bear's manager, Tony Dominick. The Bears will try on Sunday to make up for their defeat in Youngstown Sunday, when they played the Youngstown Owls.

CLASS TO MAKE TRIP TONIGHT

Members of John Davis' Sunday school class of the Mahoning Methodist church will tonight motor to Aliquippa for a regular meeting.

The class teacher, John Davis, resides in Aliquippa and has invited the class to his home for a meeting.

DINNER PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Frank, 526 North Liberty street, were hosts Sunday evening to a group of 30 relatives and friends at a dinner party held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Frank 1909 East Washington street.

Ruth Frank lead the group in devotionals before a delicious meal was served by the hostess. Dancing and card playing were the main diversions of the after-supper hours.

The hostess was aided in serving the supper by Miss Anna Frank and by Mrs. Ralph Asciane.

B. & O. AUXILIARY

Baltimore & Ohio Veterans and their auxiliary will hold a tureen dinner in their rooms at the Legion home, Wednesday evening, at 6 o'clock. The regular monthly meeting will follow the dinner.

Ready For Band Concert In Ward Wednesday Night

National Legion Band Champions Will Entertain Seventh Ward People

At 7:45 o'clock, Wednesday evening, the American Legion Junior band of New Castle, will present a band concert on the Liberty street park bandstand.

Many spectators are expected to hear this concert because the Legion band claimed first honors at the National Legion convention in New York City recently.

According to the committee in charge of the concert, a number of other musical features will be presented in conjunction with the concert.

If the weather does not permit the concert Wednesday evening, it will be postponed until a later time.

At Convention In Hershey, Pa.

Rev. D. C. Schnebly Represents Ward Church At Annual Sunday School Meet

Rev. D. C. Schnebly, pastor of the Mahoningtown Presbyterian church, left this morning for Hershey, Pa., where he will represent his church at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association.

The sessions of the convention will be held on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at Hershey. Rev. Schnebly is one of the executive committee of Lawrence county.

ENGINEERS' WIVES

The semi-monthly business meeting of the G. I. A. to B. of L. E. will be held Thursday afternoon in the Legion Home. A lunch and social hour will follow with Mrs. J. A. Hunter, Mrs. William Keely, Mrs. Henry John and Mrs. W. J. Klingensmith, presiding.

That same evening, the members are entertaining their husbands and families in the Legion Home. The time will be spent in cards, bingo, etc., with a lunch being served late in the evening.

School Children In Drive To Clear Up Glass From Streets

BRADFORD, Pa., Oct. 12.—A unique campaign will be started in Bradford soon—ridding the city streets and back thoroughfares of broken glass fragments.

As a preliminary move in the campaign, all school safety patrol units in the Bradford district will meet in Third ward school to receive instructions in the drive, which will be conducted under the direction of Harry G. Garvin, secretary of the McKean County Motor club, and sponsor of the safety groups.

In addition to collection of broken glass, the boys will begin a milk bottle round-up.

The co-operation of the police and fire departments and milk bottle exchange is being sought in the safety drive.

WILL PLANT TREES IN EROSION TEST

HARRISBURG, Oct. 12—The first shipment of trees grown by the State Department of Forests and Waters for the Federal Soil Conservation service will be made from the Clearfield nursery this fall for planting in Pennsylvania.

Deputy Secretary W. J. B. Winters said that over two and a half million trees would be in the shipment, and that these home-grown seedlings would be planted in various sections of the state, chiefly at Vandergrift and Indiana.

This will be the first shipment made under the cooperative agreement between the State Department of Forests and Waters and the U. S. Department of Agriculture under which the state will grow five million trees for the Soil Conservation Service.

QUEER ANIMAL PUZZLES OWNER

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 12.—William Simpson has a pet, but he isn't very sure just what it is. The front half looks like a cat, the other half like a Boston Bull puppy.

Born of a cat, it makes cat-like noises, but it munches bones like a dog. It has a stubby, dog's tail, short whiskers, fully developed chest, large pointed ears, yet only recently it gave birth to a litter of four normal kittens.

"Pooky," as Simpson calls it, was born a year ago at Wilmington, N. C., of a normal cat with four other brothers and sisters, who had abnormalities such as bobbed tails, and one without any tail.

Its original owner, Mrs. Anna May Gannon, a cousin to Mrs. Simpson, declares that on one occasion she heard Pooky bark.

CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

De Schweinitz Storm Center

Public Assistance Director Finds Department Involved In Relief Scandals

BREAKS WITH HIS ASSISTANT

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 12.—There's only smoke there now, but fire is bound to come, observers say, as the state relief situation continues to grow from bad to worse. The storm center is Public Assistance Director Karl DeSchweinitz.

It's no secret on Capitol Hill but there are many in the Democratic high command who are sniping at DeSchweinitz, undercover and in the open. DeSchweinitz, a close friend of Gov. George H. Earle, who appointed the former Republican to head the former state emergency relief administration, has found hands more than full; the relief estimates are falling short of actual expenditures; WPA did not continue as it had been hoped and expected; business conditions did not absorb the required number of eligible employables now on state dole; and politicians are clamoring for jobs in the new department, created by the 1937 legislature.

A rumor was sent out as a trial balloon to the effect that DeSchweinitz was going to take his complaint to the governor, asking that "political pressure" be removed. Competent observers are of the opinion, however, that if there is to be any complaining, it probably won't come from the secretary now. The whole thing came to a head this week when publication of two exclusive International News Service stories reporting some startling facts about relief roll conditions, resulted in an undercover feud between DeSchweinitz and his deputy, Philip Mathews, breaking into the open and Mathews being transferred to the governor's office.

It was Mathews who told I. N. S. that investigators had uncovered more than $1,500,000 in forged, stolen and overpaid relief checks for the past two years, and it was DeSchweinitz who promptly denied the story, then after a hot session with Mathews, accepted responsibility for it. Mathews will now be a "trouble-shooter" for the governor's office. His charges that releif rolls are jammed with "ineligibles" and expenditures running far too high, observers said, will keep his attention focused on the department he just left.

What makes things more embarrassing for the administration is the probability of a special session of the legislature, a time when relief is always the hottest of hot potatoes. Along with the complex situation is the contributing recollection that De Schweinitz has yet to be approved by the state senate as secretary of public assistance.

Gaston Post To Install Officers

Commander Norman P. Nelson And Corps Will Be Inducted Into Office

Formal installation of officers of the Perry S. Gaston post, American Legion, will take place this evening at the regular meeting of the post in the Legion Home.

Norman P. Nelson, the newly elected commander, and his staff of officers elected last month will be inducted into office.

Announcement is made that there will be a special lunch served at the close of the meeting.

Expect 7500 Will Attend Convention

Diamond Jubilee Of State Sabbath School Association Opens On Wednesday

HERSHEY, Oct. 12.—Announcement was made by officials of the Pennsylvania State Sabbath School association today that advance registrations from counties indicate a record breaking attendance at their 75th anniversary convention which will be held here October 13 to 15.

This annual three-day meeting for teachers and leaders of the church schools of the state takes on an added significance this year as it marks the Diamond Jubilee of organized inter-denominational Sunday school work in Pennsylvania, a record of continuous service that is unmatched anywhere in the nation. The goal set for registrations is 7500 and all indications are that this mark will be reached. A large corps of workers opened the registration booths in the Community building two days in advance of the convention to handle the mail registrations from the counties of the state.

A feature of the convention will be the annual banquets for divisional workers of the church schools of the state. Three of those banquets will be held the second evening, one for children's workers in the United Brethren church, the young people's banquet in the Hershey high school cafeteria, with the Adult Bible class banquet in the Community building dining room where Dr. Clyde A. Lynch, president of Lebanon Valley college, will address the workers. A unique dinner known as the Pilgrim's Dinner is a feature of each annual convention. This group gathers to exchange reminiscences of world's Sunday school conventions which they have attended, and represented here are workers who have attended world gatherings in every corner of the globe. This dinner is presided over by H. C. Heckerman of Bedford, Pa.

The Hershey Inn has been made headquarters for convention participants, state staff and program leaders, 50 rooms having been set aside for the great group necessary to carry on a convention of this magnitude. A local committee of workers from Hershey has made a survey of housing accommodations in Hershey and nearby towns and reports homes available for 7500 delegates.

Mr. Roosevelt has resumed the court fight, evidently being determined to get some more Blacks.

Volant Youth Enlists In Army Service

George M. Koprinock, R. D. 2, Volant, Pa., has been accepted for enlistment in the United States Army service.

Levitt Studies Plan Of New Challenge To Justice Black

Uncertain On Future Course

Levitt Confers In New York On Probable Action In Court Controversy

JUSTICE BLACK SEATED IN COURT

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Possibility of a fresh challenge to the right of Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black to hold his seat was being studied today by Albert Levitt, a former special assistant U. S. attorney-general.

Uncertain of his course of action after the court rejected his attack, and that of Patrick H. Kelly, a Boston lawyer, Levitt was engaged today in a series of conferences in New York. He expects to reach a decision within a few days.

Black Retains Seat

Justice Black, meanwhile, sitting securely on the bench with his black robed colleagues, again heard arguments in cases and prepared to participate in future decisions.

The brief ruling of the eight justices that Levitt and Kelly lacked sufficient personal interest to attack Justice Black's right to his seat on the ground that there is no vacancy, was interpreted in some quarters as holding the door open for other action.

Two possible methods of raising the legal questions were seen:

1. Attorney-General Cummings, under cases cited by the high court in rejecting the Black motions, could bring proceedings to oust him from office. This appeared improbable, as Cummings is said to have advised President Roosevelt that he had authority to name a successor to Justice Willis Vandevanter, retired.

2. An attorney with a case being argued in the court could challenge the right of the justice to sit in the case.

Vancover Able To Leave Hospital

County Jail Inmate, Who Attempted Suicide, Recovers From Injuries

David Vancover, of Galbreath avenue, who attempted to end his life in the county jail on September 19, by slashing his throat with a piece of glass, has recovered sufficiently from his injuries to be discharged from the Jameson Memorial hospital. He was taken back to the jail Monday.

Vancover, who is charged with attacking his wife and daughter with a hatchet, is said to have made four attempts to end his life, the last of which came near being successful, when he slashed his throat with the broken glass. He has been under constant guard in the hospital, and will be kept under close surveillance in the jail.

CRIME EXHIBIT WILL BE STAGED

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 12.—Models of old cells at Sing Sing, contrasted with models of new cells; miniatures of Alcatraz and Lewisburg penitentiaries; models of the gallows maintained in different states, and contraband captured from criminals will be among the exhibitions open to the public at the American Prison Congress meeting here October 10-15.

Dr. E. Preston Sharp, of the Eastern State penitentiary, is in charge of the exhibits for the conclave which includes representatives from the federal government and the states of New York, New Jersey and Pennsylvania.

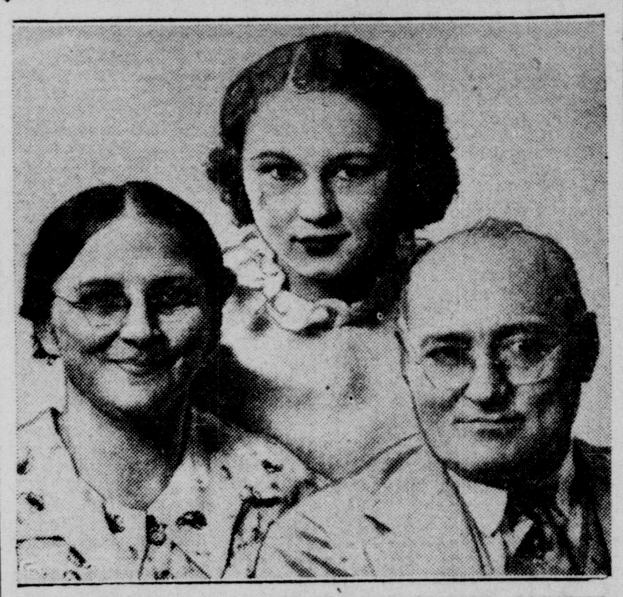

CAN DEDUCT FOR GASOLINE TAXES

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 12.—Pennsylvania taxpayers may deduct four-cents-a-gallon tax they pay on every gallon of gasoline from their federal income tax returns beginning next year, the Keystone Automobile club has pointed out.

An enabling act passed by the last legislature has changed the state law to read "consumer" instead of "distributor" when it was then found the tax on gasoline was actually being payed by the consumer.

A Tragedy—For Parents

MR. AND MRS. FRANK BIRTICH AND DAUGHTER, DOROTHY

For years, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Birtich of Akron, O., had planned to return to their home land—Yugoslavia—and live, when they had saved enough. Finally, the time came. Birtich sold his dry goods business in Akron, and the family came to Cleveland to bid farewell to friends there. A few nights before they were to go to New York to sail to Europe, their daughter, Dorothy, 17, disappeared. She had pleaded that she did not desire to go to a strange land to live. All her friends were in America. Now, the parents, prostrate, have canceled all their plans and have sent out a message through the newspapers to Dorothy, "Come home, the trip is off". They will rebuild their home in America.

Hunters found a fern picker near Raymond, Wash., who was taking no chances on being shot for venison. He wore a red hat, a red shirt and dangled a cowbell from his neck.

Mrs. Catherine Rough jokingly asked her grocer at Cincinnati for a "dozen double-yolked eggs." She took them home and selected two for a meal. One was a "double"—the other a "triple."

"I have shaken hands and kissed babies every year since I left law school. Moreover, this darn job is getting under my hide." So says Probate Judge Robert Hudkins, of Emporia, Kans., who is resigning.

A device to test the heat content of hay mows as a guard against fire by spontaneous combustion has been invented by H. D. Kellog, of Rome, O., near Chardon. The instrument, which is thrust into the mow, consists of a long pipe filled with glycerine, in the end of which is inserted a high-reading thermometer. The danger mark is 180 degrees, as hay becomes combustible at 185 degrees.

Skunks are so tame in the vicinity of Coshocton, O., that they have been making nightly visitations right downtown, according to Patrolman Harry Davis, and they make a habit of following policemen. Davis says it isn't uncommon for four or five of the striped (and perfumed) little animals to be seen, and as there is something about a uniform, like as not they will be following at the heels of a cop. Then there was the night Davis went to a police telephone box and found a skunk curled up waiting to be disturbed—but it wasn't.

Tonight services marking the 135th anniversary of the founding of the Mercer U. P. congregation will be conducted at the church and Dr. R. F. Galbreath, president of Westminster College, will deliver the principal address. Rev. J. Charles Paul is the present pastor of the old congregation.

Funeral services were conducted at Lakewood, O., for the late Miss Ina Mae Hanna, retired professor and dean of women of Westminster College, New Wilmington, who died last Thursday in Lakewood City hospital. Miss Hanna, after being graduated from Westminster and teaching in Seattle, joined the faculty of the college about 32 years ago and taught for more than 20 years. She then was appointed dean of women in which capacity she served until her retirement. Surviving is a sister, Margie J. Hanna.

SAYS NIGHT DRIVERS SUFFER BLINDNESS

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Oct. 12.—Robert A. Mitchell, Philadelphia traffic engineer, claims approximately one out of seven persons driving an automobile at night suffer from hemeralopic or night blindness.

Mitchell pointed out that one-half of all automobile fatalities occur after sunset, though traffic is only one-fifth as heavy as during the day. A good proportion of these accidents, he said, is probably due to the fact that the driver unknowingly is suffering from severe impairment of vision after dark. The driver lacks a substance called "visual purple," from Vitamin A.

Spinach, carrots and other Vitamin A foods are blindness preventatives.

REALTY BROKERS MUST TAKE EXAMS

HARRISBURG, Oct. 12.—Persons interested in entering the real estate business have been notified by the Department of Public Instruction that the exemption period during which certain individuals may be licensed under the provisions of Act No. 590 without taking examination, expired on September 30.

Persons submitting applications now will have to take examinations in order to obtain real estate brokers licenses.

Penn Alumni To Meet October 18

More than 100 alumni living in Mahoning and Trumbull counties, Ohio, and Mercer and New Castle, Pa., are expected to attend a dinner at the Youngstown club, Youngstown, on the evening of October 18, which is the local focal point of the "Pennsylvania World Wide Dinner," according to C. F. Owsley, chairman of the Youngstown committee.

The Youngstown dinner, one of more than 100 such meetings throughout the world, will be the opening gun in the University of Pennsylvania's bicentennial program. More than 15,000 Pennsylvania graduates are expected to attend alumni dinners in the United States.

How to Make Better Cough Remedy Than You Can Buy

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of sugar syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all.

Then get from your druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It is far better than anything you could buy ready-made, and you get four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it.

This is positively the most effective quick-acting cough remedy that money could buy. Instantly, you feel it penetrating the air passages. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes and makes breathing easy. You've never seen its equal for prompt and pleasing results.

Pinex is a concentrated compound of Norway Pine, the most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Rev. C. T. Yeates Is Council Speaker

Immanuel Reformed Church Awarded Cup For The Largest Attendance

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 12.—Rev. Chester Yeates, pastor of the Third U. P. church, New Castle, was the guest speaker for the monthly meeting of the Young People's council of Ellwood City churches, held last evening in the United Presbyterian church.

Miss Hannah Lowry of the U. P. church was in charge of the opening service and introduced Rev. Yeates, who gave a most inspiring address on the subject, "Religion for Young People". The speaker also recounted many interesting experiences of his recent trip to the Holy Land.

Robert H. Taylor, a student at Bethany college, Bethany, W. Va., who during the summer was the supply pastor of the First Christian church, was special guest honoring the Christian church group.

Their was an attendance of seventy and the Reformed church was awarded the cup for the largest attendance. Plans to send books for a southern library were furthered with a goodly number of books already received for the collection.

A most enjoyable social hour followed with members of the host church serving tempting refreshments.

Monday evening, November 8, marks the date of the next meeting in the First Presbyterian church.

Industrial Week Is Being Planned

Will Be Held In High School From November 8 To 12; Pupils To Hear Of Industry

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 12.—An Industrial Week will be held in the local high school from November 8 to 12 inclusive. The program for the week which is being sponsored by the Vocational Guidance Bureau of the high school with the aid of the Chamber of Commerce will bring the leading industrial heads and workingmen of Ellwood City to the high school for 15 minute chats each day. The industrial heads will inform the 2,000 pupils over the public address system as to the duties of a managerial head of industry and enlighten the public to the fact that industry has no mysteries connected with it.

While the workingman will inform the students about his work and problems one encounters in the flow of mass production today.

The program for the week is one of the most beneficial and unique ever put on in the local school and is expected to draw a great deal of praise from educators throughout the state.

During the entire week displays of the various products manufactured here in Ellwood City will be on display in the hall lobby of the high school.

Murray Offers Report On CIO

Chairman Of Steel Workers Committee Makes Report At Atlantic City

(International News Service)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 12.—Strides made by the CIO in negotiating with steel manufacturers were recounted today by Philip Murray, chairman of the steel workers organizing committee, in a detailed report to executive officers of the CIO, in session here.

Murray, in common with his chief, John L. Lewis, pointedly ignored action of the A. F. of L. in authorizing its executive council to expel the ten suspended CIO unions. Lewis merely referred questioners to his previous statement that the CIO was "out of the Federation"

Murray said contracts had been signed with 434 steel manufacturing, fabricating and processing firms, covering 500,000 steel workers, with pay increases totalling $275,000,000, and a 40-hour week contributing to the employment of 70,000 additional men.

As a result, Murray declared the CIO not only has unionized the bulk of the steel industry in a year but has won the good will of the managements as a result.

Legal Holiday But Motorists Pay Usual Fees

Although today is Columbus Day, a legal holiday, autoists paid parking fees to park in parking zones, according to observation. Only two operators of cars at 10:30 a. m. who parked their vehicles in East Washington street between North Mercer street and East street failed to insert a nickel. These cars belonged to firms doing business in stores in front of which the motor vehicles were parked. Apparently the motorists inserted nickels in the slots because the stores were open.

The ordinance provides no parking fee need be paid on holidays, but the intent of the ordinance is that no parking fee is required on a national holiday and one during which the stores are closed. Rather than take any chance on a misunderstanding, motorists are paying the parking fee.

Harlansburg Road Open To Traffic

After being closed for the past two weeks, while a new bridge was being constructed near the Fair Grounds, the Harlansburg road was thrown open to traffic today.

Our noble soldiers didn't bomb women and children to conquer the Philippines. They did it with artillery.

Police Tag Autos On North Hill

Improper Parking Brings Police Tag—Officers To Continue Watch

Autoists who parked their cars too near street intersections, fire hydrants, in safety zones or blockaded private driveways last night on Wallace avenue, Lincoln avenue and other thoroughfares immediately on top of the North Hill, received tags, Mayor Charles E. McGrath stated today.

He said police were sent to the district last night to present tags owing to the numerous complaints concerning improper parking.

"They received the tags because they showed no respect for auto ordinances or the rights of others," the mayor said.

The mayor promised that police will maintain a strict watch in that district and erring motorists can expect to receive a tag for violating auto ordinances.

Non-Suit Granted In Case Of Baileys Against New Castle

Judge W. Walter Braham granted a non-suit at Lawrence county court Monday afternoon in the case of T. L. and Minnie Bailey against the City of New Castle. The Pittsburgh Auto Equipment company and Elizabeth W. Moore were added defendants. The suit was one in which damages were asked for injuries sustained by Mrs. Bailey when she broke through the covering of a coal hole in front of the Moore building on North Mercer street. She was seriously injured and was in the hospital for some time. The suit was brought against the city for negligence, but the evidence did not show that the city had any knowledge of the condition existing. At the conclusion of testimony for plaintiffs, defendant's attorneys moved for a non-suit which was granted.

Spaghetti Dinner For Exchange Club

Several miles of delicious spaghetti, prepared in true Italian style, were consumed by members of the New Castle Exchange club when they were entertained by the Italian Literary club, Morton street, Monday evening.

Following dinner the group enjoyed a film presented by S. Sayer of Philadelphia and W. Foht of this city. The film was entitled "On the Payroll Frontier".

At the next meeting, Monday night, October 18, in the Elks club, North Mill street, Mayor Charles McGrath will address the club.

Putnam Does Not Lose Hope

Husband Of Missing Amelia Earhart Hopes Wife Is Stranded On Island

OCEAN GAMBLERS HAVE GOOD YEAR

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—George Palmer Putnam, husband of Amelia Earhart, has not as yet mourned the brave flyer as dead. He has glimmers of hope that somewhere on some forlorn dot of an island along the outer fringe of the world she and her navigator, Fred Noonan, may be leading a Robinson Crusoe life.

O. O. McIntyre

Of course, such a hope, even to him, becomes fantastical at times, but he clings to it. Putnam, a quiet, self-effacing fellow, interested chiefly in rare books, has aged much since his life was cracked up by the long and agonizing suspense of the flying tragedy.

He had undergone several of these torturing interludes on other ocean hops of Miss Earhart and looked forward to the around-the globe flight, which was fatal, as her last. She is said to have promised him she would make no more of a perilous nature.

They were ideally matched. He was in complete sympathy with her aviation ambitions and had no urge for the spotlight. Furthermore, he was possessed of ample fortune to furnish the necessary funds for her costly experimentations.

Among the long-standing column feuds is that between Walter Lippman and Heywood Broun. They were long co-workers on the old Morning World. Broun, with great glee, frequently hurls a journalistic javelin at Lippman, but if it has brought blood it has not shown up in Lippman's column. He ignores the thrusts completely, which is so often disconcerting.

The greyhounds or ocean liner gamblers have had a most profitable season this summer. Their pluckings were enormous—one middle-western industrialist is said to have been taken for $42,000 in a three-day session. Ship attendants can spot the greyhounds on sight. Rarely do they resemble gamblers. And when they are spotted, up go the placards: "Professional Gamblers Aboard." But that rarely does any good. The professionals have a way of jockeying relaxing passengers into asking them to join a friendly game. And, of course, there are always the accomplices. The average card shark is indeed a shark at bridge and poker. And he does not always have to cheat. The majority can make plenty playing fairly. But if luck is against them they have no scruples in indulging the well known tricks.

After the fashion most of us love the rogue, I have a secret liking for the companionship of the ocean gambler in crossings. I have known several around New York and on shipboard. They are the frankest of all who live by their wits and rarely deny their calling. In fact, they like to romance about it. There was one light-hearted churl known among his guild by the name of a fruit. Say "Apples," which was not quite it. One time, coming up the gangplank at Plymouth, I hailed him from the deck by his moniker. He flushed, and as he passed clipped out of the side of his mouth: "Nix. On this ship I am Col. Jeffers." "My mother-in-law was along and one evening in the coffee room "Col. Jeffers" strolled by, stopped and turned on his charm, telling the dear old lady of his own mother, shaking off a vagrant tear so doing, and of his church activities and his noble faith in mankind. He made such an impression it was weeks before I told her he was a professional rascal.

Another type of flim-flammer interesting me was the old time race track tout. Before the days of the pari-mutuels. In early newspaper days I lived in a sort of rake-hell hotel catering to burlesque, second company musicals and track touts. No ambitious student trying to rise in the world studied so assiduously as these touts perused racing forms or dope sheets. To have applied themselves as earnestly to a worthy calling could not have resulted in anything but success. They were tops in misspent endeavor.

Yet it occurs I'm lacking in appreciation for touts. While strolling among the 50-cent bookies one day at Latonia, I listened to the glib patter of one of the gentry. And as a result of his enticing ring-a-do played a 20 to 1 shot on the nose. The horse romped in and I waited around for the tout to claim his share, but he never showed up.

AROUND CITY HALL

Several thousand notices, reminding taxpayers that their 1937 city taxes are delinquent, have been sent out and will be received within the next several days, the mailing process having been launched at city hall yesterday. There is a four per cent penalty on delinquent city taxes according to city officials.

Request was made to city council yesterday that permission be granted for the placing of posters on some of the boxes used for waste paper purposes on street corners. The request was refused.

Approximately half a dozen persons daily receive warrants for their failure to honor auto parking ordinance violations, it was learned today at the mayor's office.

Whenever one drives a team of horses and wagon into a parking meter zone he or she comes within the provisions of the parking ordinance. A parking fee of five cents must be paid unless the wagon is there to take on or discharge materials, police report.

B. F. Butler, director of streets, during councilmanic meeting yesterday, said, that, in view of claims for damages growing out of automobiles alleged to have struck objects in the streets, council should meet and go over all the claims then make a decision. The present council, like their predecessors, fully investigate each accident before any payment is made.

Marion J. Young, at present sergeant of police, has held the position of chief of police, lieutenant of police, plain clothesman and Lawrence county detective. He is the only member of the police force who has held all these positions. Lieutenant George S. Kennedy has been the Lawrence county detective and served as plain clothesman. He has acted as chief of police in the absence of incumbents. Cy Horner, who retired, served in various capacities as did J. Ed. Elder.

On Court House Hill

Five jurors summoned for common pleas court this week were excused. They were Wayne Kemp of the fourth ward; Earl McCandless of Ellwood City; George Mallory of Big Beaver township; Alice Mehard of North Beaver township and Helen Newton, Ellwood City.

Attorney J. Elder Bryan, guardian of Carl C. Kildoo, presented a petition in court asking leave to spend $50 for blood tests of Mr. Kildoo, who is in poor health. The blood tests are expected to develop the nature of the malady. The petition was granted.

County treasurer Joseph H. Hartland reports that the WPA workers who are making out delinquent tax records, have completed nine districts. These records are being compiled on the new card system, which has been introduced in the county treasurer's office. It will be possible when the system is completed, for a taxpayer to ascertain the amount of his delinquent taxes, without its being necessary to search through numerous dockets.

Letters testamentary in the estate of the late William A. Curry, of Shenango township, have been issued to D A. Palmer by the register and recorder. In the estate of the late Jennie McConnell of this city letters testamentary have been issued to Thomas H. Hartman, and in the estate of the late Sarah Jane Booher, letters have been issued to Mary Caldwell.

In the divorce case of William L. Pander against Mary Pander, a petition for alimony pending a disposition of the case, was presented to court. It set forth that the respondent denies the allegations of the libellant, who applied for a divorce on the grounds of indignities. Mrs. Pander says that she has a full and complete defense to the charge. A rule was issued returnable on October 25th.

In the estate of Kally G. Keproff of Ellwood City, Norman P. Mortensen presented a petition to sell property located at Ellwood City to Tode and Dimitri Simoff for $5,800. Affidavits by Kenneth E. Fox and Ray H. Aylesworth, set forth that the price offered was a fair one and the sale was approved. Keproff is in the state hospital at Massillon, O., according to the peition.

County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland says that there is some misunderstanding over costs by persons who are paying their delinquent taxes on the installment plan. It has been necessary to revive a number of the liens, and those who are paying do not seem to understand that the costs of these revivals must be borne by the person paying the taxes. There are now about two thousand taxpayers who have taken advantage of the acts of assembly giving them the opportunity to pay delinquent taxes in five equal annual installments, less interest and penalties. The time during which advantage can be taken of this act expires on November 1

County Commissioners have delegated janitor Clifford James of the court house to collect the ballots in the ballot boxes which were used at the recent primary election, and store them in a court house vault. The law requires that these ballots be preserved for eleven months. They cannot be allowed to remain in the boxes, which will be needed for the November election. In Beaver and some other counties the county commissioners purchased new boxes for every precinct in the county. The Lawrence county comsioners will save the county considerable money by having the ballots collected and stored in place of buying new boxes. The boxes are in the custody of the different Justices of the Peace. Mr. James has the authority to open them and extract the ballots. The ballots taken from each box will be securely wrapped and labeled, so that if any questions should arise during the eleven months they are in storage, it will be an easy matter to refer to the original ballots.

Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard and Deputy Ben Hartland yesterday took Danield Vancover to Farview hospital. Vancover is alleged to have attacked members of his family with a hatchet, and later tried to commit suicide in the county jail. A commission appointed by the court found that he was suffering from mental trouble.

County commissioners will make another trip to Pittsburgh this week to confer with State Highway engineers regarding the Edenburg-Hillsville road over which there is a controversery as to who shall build a bridge that is needed.

Seek Volunteers To Aid Census Of Unemployed

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Volunteer organizations in every city and town in the nation, like those that sprang up during the World war, will be created to help put the national unemployment census, November 16 and 17, "over the top," John D. Biggers, national administrator, announced today.

In a letter to the municipal head of every town and city he asked a citizens committee be appointed, representative of the entire community, to cooperate with the local postmaster in taking this census of the unemployed.

Rotary Club Hears Attorney Marshall

Prominent Butler Man Speaks Before Luncheon Audience Monday

James E. Marshall, prominent Butler attorney, delivered a stirring address on "The Constitution" before the weekly luncheon of the Rotary club at The Castleton on Monday. He was introduced to the clubmen by Dr. C. C. Green, head of city schools, and a classmate of Mr. Marshall in Slippery Rock grade schools and at Grove City college.

Guests who heard the talk, in which the speaker made timely reference to constitutional issues of today, included John Todd, Huntington, W. Va.; Borough Manager Lowell Monroe and Howard Gray, Ellwood City, and Edgar Beal, Pittsburgh, son of Rotarian Dr. W. L. Beal.

Mr. Marshall is associated with the Butler law firm of Marshall & McCandless.

Mission Sewing Work Begins On Thursday

Fall activities of the City Rescue Mission will formally open Thursday, October 14, when the women's sewing class under the direction of Mrs. Archie W. Gibson assembles for its first session. At 6 that evening Mrs. Gibson will serve supper to the class and at 6:45 a Bible study will be held.

The Rev. Boston Turner, pastor of the Pentecostal church, will lead the mission service Thursday evening.

Other regular fall-winter work of the mission is resuming this week.

Impressive exercises have been arranged for this evening when members of Unione Calabro-Americana Poeta Franco Berardelli will gather in their clubrooms, Division street, to celebrate Columbus Day.

During the course of the evening Angelo Fiala will deliver an address, relating to the life of Christopher Columbus.

Grape Purchases Will Be Made To Keep Up Prices

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.—Because of a "bumper" grape crop in Michigan, and falling market prices, the AAA announced today the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation would launch a grape purchasing program in Van Buren and Berrien counties. J. B. Hatch, a representative of the FSCC, was sent to the district to determine prices to be paid to growers. The surplus grapes purchased will be distributed to nearby state relief agencies for distribution to the needy.

STATE DEBT OVER TWO BILLIONS NOW

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Oct. 12.—Take the national debt in 1916, the year before the United States entered the World war, multiply it by two and you have Pennsylvania's share in the current national debt. In other words, Pennsylvanians carries, at present, $2,909,032,000 load for the national government, according to computations in Washington based on a population index.

BUST THAT COLD WIDE OPEN

Don't Merely Humor It!

Deal with a cold in earnest. Deal with it in seriousness.

A cold is too fraught with danger to be taken lightly. Many a case of flu and pneumonia has started with nothing more than a "common cold."

Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets) are what you want.

They are made expressly for the treatment of colds and not for all kinds of ailments.

First, they open the bowels.

Second, they check the infection in the system.

Third, they relieve the headache and fever.

Fourth, they tone the system and help fortify against further attack.

Bromo Quinine tablets are a proven preparation. They have been on the market over 40 years and are the world's largest-selling cold tablet.

Bromo Quinine tablets now come sugar-coated as well as plain. Both kinds are sold by all druggists, a few cents a box.

When you feel a cold coming on—don't wait—don't procrastinate—but go right to your druggist and get a package of Grove's Laxative Bromo Quinine (LBQ tablets).

Say "No" to substitutes!

Martins Ferry To Bring Strong Team

Will Invade New Castle Saturday With Powerful Eleven Is Indicated

Bridenbaugh Will Not Change Lineup Very Much Over Last Week

Taggart Stadium looked like a bee-hive yesterday afternoon as Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh put his big New Castle High "Red Hurricane" eleven through its paces. The reason for the activity lies in the fact that Saturday afternoon, it will be Martins Ferry, Ohio, High here for a grid battle.

New Castle is going to catch the "Ferries" on the rebound. Last Saturday afternoon for the first time in two years the big Purple Riders horde lost a football game, and it was Wheeling High that turned the trick 6 to 0 in a sea of mud.

Lots Of Zip

The Loucks coached team will come here with a lot of fire in its eye. Of course, New Castle will have fire also, over the fact that the "Ferries" won last year at the Ohio City. It should be a humdinger of a ball game here this week. The crowd should be the biggest of the current year.

In the workout yesterday Bridenbaugh had Gender, Sovesky, Micaletti and Lauro working in the first team backfield. The line was the same as used in the Washington game, with Albert Piccutta at guard. Kulnis is trying hard to dislodge the Seventh Ward boy, but hasn't quite got the speed that Piccutta has to play guard The boys came out of the Washington game in good shape. New Castle will be at its strongest for the game against the Purple Riders.

If this boy Mumeyak would only brush up on his defensive work, Bridenbaugh might start him in one of these games. The boy is the fastest thing on wheels that you ever saw, but as yet lacks the polish that would make him a starter.

Plenty Of Interest

Bridenbaugh goes about his work this week, not saying much. The head mentor hopes however that the New Castle boys can flash the same sort of offense against the Ohioians that they did against the Washington High crew last week. Really, it was the first time that the locals have shown a powerful offensive attack. Sovesky and Micalletti looked good last week and if they are up to par this week, the visitors are going to have a tough afternoon.

There is considerable interest in both towns in the coming game. In event of nice weather, it is expected that upwards of 10,000 will wend into Taggart Stadium for the contest.

Bessemer Trips Franklin High

Bessemer Reserves Hand 19 To 6 Defeat To Franklin High Gridders

Bessemer High School Reserves handed the Ben Franklin High team a 19 to 6 defeat at the Bessemer High field in the opening game of the year for the East Siders. The Bessemer boys outweighed the locals about 10 to 15 pounds per man.

The first period was scoreless, but the Bessemers scored at least one in every inning after that. The Franklin team this year has but one veteran on the squad.

Friday afternoon it will be Campbell Junior High at Taggart field against the Ben Franklins.

The summary:

Ben Franklin 6.		Bessemer 19.
Covert	L.E.	Calderaro
Lawson	L.T.	Hedberg
Parou	L.G.	Gallo
Panzarella	C.	Mandrich
Scarazzo	R.G.	Grist
Audino	R.T.	Sandora
Badurik	R.E.	Germanovich
Sands	Q.B.	Pelto
Roberts	L.H.	Moses
Maggie	R.H.	Kennedy
DeMarco	F.B.	Zornich

Score by periods:

Franklin	0	0	0	6—	6
Bessemer	0	7	6	6—	19

Touchdowns: Franklin—Roberts; Bessemer—Kennedy 2, Calderaro.

Extra point—Pass, Moses to Kennedy.

Substitutions: Franklin—Pascarella, Bordonaro, Aspromonti.

Referee—Thomas.

Umpire—King.

Wampum Will Have Professional Team

Although the floor season is still far off, Wampum is already making preparations for the popular hardwood sport.

Announcement was made this morning that Wampum will have a professional club. The team will be one of the fastest aggregations in the county. At center, Abe Caplon, former Pitt pivot man, will take care of the role. The remainder of the roster will include Demark, Ferrucci, Eversole, Benn, Letore and Palopook. Players Peeved At Bill Terry, Is Series Alibi

Giant Players Think That Terry Allowed Too Much Personal Feelings

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Just as everybody was about to give up on a moot question as to why the Giants didn't show more fight against the Yankees in the just-concluded 1937 series for the championship of the world, the apparent answer came through today. The Giants were, it seems, too busy fighting among themselves.

Some of the young men, notably Dick Bartell and Gus Mancuso, didn't agree, I'm told, with William H. (our Will) Terry's selection of a starting lineup from day to day and said as much. So there was alleged to have been considerable clubhouse bickering from time to time, especially over the starting of Lou Chiozza in centerfield in the second and third games. There also was the fact that Harry Danning, catcher, was openly critical of Terry before the series, claiming that Terry meant to use the excuse of Danning's injured hand to keep him out of the games. Danning was used after Mancuso broke a finger in the second game.

Strained Relations.

Finally, there is the story that a feeling of strain existed between our Will and his substitute first baseman, Sam Leslie, with the result that the latter didn't appear in the final game on Sunday, though three pinch hitters were used. Of course, it was Leslie, a left hand hitter, against Gomez, a left hand pitcher, but at that he figured to be better than the right handed Blondy Ryan.

Still, Terry and Leslie seemed friendly when they parted in the dressing room after the final game and I don't doubt that our Will is due to deny everything, on toto. If so, he'll have to look far for support.

Centered Around Chiozza.

As I get the story, the argument over the lineup came up before last Friday's game when Terry again nominated Chiozza, a sort of badminton hitter, to play centerfield and Leslie to replace Johnny McCarthy at first base. The discussion, I understand, was not violent, merely firm on both sides. In fact, they tell me that Terry was entirely reasonable and equable in handling the situation.

"All right," he is alleged to have said. "Let me try my way once more. Then you can have yours."

Good House Cleaning.

By the time they had theirs, the series stood 3 to 0 in favor of the Yankees. Moreover, it is a matter of record that Terry let them have Leiber. But Leslie stayed in the dugout.

The result of the series left little doubt that the Giants are in for a general landscaping job before next spring. The result of the argument practically ordained this. This man McCarthy, who bowed formally and sedately to all throws into the runner, will not be with us again. Neither, they say, will Leslie.

New Castle Rifle Club Tops Detroit

Michigan State Champions Are Beaten By Locals 949 To 924

The New Castle Rifle club is claiming the Michigan state rifle championship today as a result of their 949 to 924 victory over the Detroit Rifle club at Detroit last Saturday night.

Dick Pugh, Miller and Bobby Waddington shot 190 class at Detroit. The match was held in the Cadillac factory range. The New Castle men had a fine time and have invited the Detroit men to come to New Castle for a shoot. The match was staged on a 50-foot range.

Vargo Playing On Delaware Team

Another former New Castle high school football player, George J. Vargo, son of Mr. and Mrs. George J. Vargo, of Northview avenue, seems to be making good in college football.

Vargo has entered the University of Delaware, located at Newark, Del., and in his first year seems to be set for a position as end on the football team. On the high school football team he played center.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILI BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

By BILL BRAUCHER
Central Press Sports Editor

When Major Biff Jones started his new coaching job at Nebraska last spring, there were conspicuous vacancies in the ranks of the young men who reported for varsity duty. . . . Gone were the great Sam Francis, Wild Horse Lloyd Cardwell, Ronnie Douglas. There remained only Johnny Howell of the splendid backfield of Dana Bible's last year. Major Jones had to console himself with the fact the Husker forward wall was intact.

What the major accomplished in the short months before that October afternoon when the vaunted Gopher was ground into the dust at Lincoln must be regarded as the year's outstanding coaching feat.

Good coaching, plus Charlie Brock, plus Johnny Howell, plus Elmer Dohrmann! Good coaching, plus the powerful tackles Fred Shirey and Ted Doyle, and the great guards Bob Mehring and Lowell English!

Jones had met Brock before. Last year the major was steering the Oklahoma Sooners through the intricacies of its Big Six schedule. He saw Nebraska, and Brock, and marveled. Brock snapped the ball, moved out of the line and knocked Biff's ends out of the play. "Where does that fellow get that stuff?" said the major. And now he has Brock for his very own, and the Nebraska eleven of 1937 is built around the raw-boned rambler from Columbus, Neb.

Howell, great tackler and blocker on the teams that featured Francis and Cardwell, not only has been the faultless field general this year (running the Minnesota game on express train schedule,) but has branched out to do a bit of ball-carrying and bucking for himself.

Dohrmann, six-foot-six end, is doing his last year in Nebraska colors. Injuries held him back last year, but in the Minnesota game, he showed no ill effects of his old hurts. Both Shirey and Doyle, at tackles, and English and Mehring at guards have carried on where they left off last year when they won all-conference citations.

Development of new talent has changed what appeared to be a weaker Nebraska team into actually a stronger, better-balanced eleven than the one beaten by a lucky last-minute break in the Minnesota game in 1936. Biff had to have some halfbacks and have them quick "to keep the score down against Minnesota." He has found them, it seems in snappy Jack Dodd, Harris Andrews, Jim Mather, unfortunate McIlravy, Calligan and Petsch. He almost had another in Herman Rohrig, but Herman was blocked out by trigonometry and isn't in there any more. McIlravy was hurt in the Minnesota game, suffering a brain concussion.

Nebraska took Minnesota with passes, just as Biff had planned. Harris Andrews was pitching and Wild Bill Callahan catching part of the time. Dodd did a little catching when it wasn't expected, with Minnesota pitching. Howell pitched to Grimm, a new right end, for some yards. The Andrews-to-Dohrmann passing combination seems the best battery of all, however. Dohrmann can go up as high as the Eiffel tower for that soaring ball.

The Huskers have a fairly easy schedule aside from one ball game. That is at Pittsburgh, Nov. 13. All Biff has to do is beat the Panthers at their best. If he does, you'll see a Big Six team in that Rose Bowl.

Committee Meets And Talks Over Plans For Martins Ferry Game Saturday

General Chairman Ed Raney, of the Carnegie-Illinois Steel Company, and his aides arranging for the reception for the Martins Ferry game here Saturday, met last night at the Sporting Goods Store and formulated plans.

Another meeting will be held on Thursday night at the Sporting Goods Store at 7 o'clock at which time further plans will be made.

Police Cooperate

Arrangements will be made through the cooperation of the New Castle police and Chief Criswell to park the Martins Ferry autos on Cunningham avenue between Taylor and Lutton street. Stickers will be sent to Martins Ferry for the cars. No car without a sticker will be allowed to remain in the designated area.

The streets will be well policed, according to Chief Criswell.

Mayor Charles McGrath has issued an invitation to the mayor of Martins Ferry and members of the Martins Ferry city council to be guests of the local executive and council members here Saturday.

The block of seats for the steel workers are on sale at the Sporting Goods Store and can be picked up at any time.

Massillon Sends 500 Tickets Here

Massillon High has sent 500 tickets to New Castle for the New Castle-Massillon game at Massillon on the night of October 29. The tickets are reserved and sell for $1.00 per ticket. These tickets are mostly around the 50-yard line.

There may not be any more reserved seat tickets available when this 500 quota is gone, so the fans are urged to buy their tickets early. The student tickets for the game will sell for 25 cents. The general admission price is not known as yet.

Massillon is putting in extra seats for the game. There is a heavy demand in Massillon for tickets already.

Big Grid Games Will Headline Card Saturday

Tech To Meet Notre Dame, Pitt Against Fordham, Cornell Vs. Syracuse

ARMY ELEVEN IS TO MEET YALE

By LAWTON CARVER
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—The nation's football powers will move out against each other Saturday in the greatest array of big time games scheduled to date and it is a virtual certainty that the appalling upset casualty list will be further swelled.

It is tough team against tough team in nearly every instance from here on out, and the weeping and wailing are about to be turned on in earnest as one after another of the hopeful big timers fall riddled.

Syracuse Vs. Cornell

In the East, Syracuse is confronted by the task—and opportunity—of stopping Cornell's rampaging Reds. Syracuse probably will be thoroughly whipped as was Princeton or crushed as was Colgate by the Cornell eleven, but it is a game worth watching. By now Cornell's young men figure to be thinking they're pretty good.

Perhaps they are, and the same goes for Fordham's Rams who will trot out in another eastern headliner, meeting Pittsburgh Panthers. Fordham seems to be a better ball club this year than it was in 1936 and Pitt likewise appears stronger, with the amazing Mr. Goldberg, the Jewish hill-billy, again on the loose.

Army, with two tough games under its belt, takes a crack at the strong Yale eleven, which finaly quit shadow-boxing last week and got itself a battle with Penn Still another eastern feature will reveal whether Harvard really has it, the opposition to be the impressive Navy team.

Tech Vs. Irish

Other major encounters in this section will bring together Colgate and Tulane, Columbia and Penn, Manhattan and Villanova, Carnegie Tech and Notre Dame, and Georgia and Holy Cross.

At Chicago, the Chicago eleven which has been shutout by Vanderbilt and Wisconsin, can hope for little better luck with Princeton in a mid-western feature. Twice-tied Illinois takes on beaten Indiana in another spotlight attraction. Michigan will face Minnesota, Northwestern will take on Purdue, Wisconsin and Iowa State tackle each other, nearly every game a battle royal.

Georgia Tech, currently going strong against a none too impressive array of opponents, comes down to its game with Duke in a southern feature with virtually the same record taken into the game against the Blue Devils last year. On that occasion Tech was stopped.

Oregon Vs. U. S. C.

Dixie also will be watching Mississippi, and North Carolina State and V. P. I., among others.

Texas and Arkansas, Kansas and Iowa, Kansas State and Marquette, Southern Methodist and Vanderbilt, Texas Christian and Texas A. and M. Nebraska and Oklahoma, Baylor and Centenary, Rice and Tulsa, will be features in the Big Six and southwest.

On the coast, where all major teams except California and Santa Clara have been whipped or tied, the big battles will be University of California at Los Angeles and Oregon State, Washington and Washington State, and Oregon and Southern California.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Tommy Farr, British heavyweight, is home and told welcomers upon his arrival at Southampton, England that providing the terms are right he may fight someone in England between now and February when he will battle an American heavyweight, probably James J. Braddock. The latter scrap may be staged at New York City, February 20.

Italo Coloenllo, Italian heavyweight champion, knocked out Eddie Shelby of Cleveland in the second round at Pittsburgh last night. In the same ring, Tiger Jack Fox turned the same trick on Red Bruce of Pittsburgh, in the same round. Holman Williams, stablemate of John Henry Lewis, decisioned Tony Rock in a 10-round bout. Rich Gregory outpointed Barney Ruffner, in a five-round preliminary. Rich is from Butler and Ruffner from Pittsburgh.

Freddie Steele, middleweight champion and Fred Apostoli, who scored a technical knockout of Marcel Thil, have been matched for a 12-round bout at New York, November 12.... Governor Robert E. Quinn, Rhode Island, has ordered the closing of the Narrangansett race track. The fall meeting was scheduled for next week.

Some macaroni, spaghetti or egg noodles added to soups will give them body and add to their food value.

Martins Ferry To Bring Band

Faculty Manager Ralph H. Gardner announced today that in a telephone conversation with Martins Ferry, O., that the Ohioans will bring their 75 piece band to New Castle for the game on Saturday afternoon.

Whether or not the Martins Ferry band and fans will come by special train is not known as yet. About 1,000 from Martins Ferry will see the game here, it is indicated.

Union-Bessemer Play On Friday

Important Lawrence County Class B Clash Slated For Union Gridiron

Football followers of two communities—Scotland Lane and Bessemer—are anxiously awaiting next Friday afternoon when they will congregate at Union township field to watch Union high and Bessemer battle in one of the most important clashes of the day in the county.

To these schools nothing means more than the Lawrence County Class B laurels. The team winning will naturally be nearer to the coveted title. Last week, both elevens crashed through with well earned triumphs, Union toppling Mercer 13-0 and Bessemer disposing of Evans City by a 27-0 margin.

The schools are two of the most bitter gridiron rivals in the district. Monday saw both teams start their training period in preparation for the tussle. The coaches will start their strongest lineup in the hope of romping off with a victory. Bessemer shocked the gridiron world several weeks ago, defeating Ursuline high, which battles Youngstown East this week. East recently toppled New Castle. Should Ursuline win—well that sort of speaks well for the Bessemerites.

LEADERS MAINTAIN PACE

The Penn Power No. 1 team, champions of the 1936 tenpin league at Castle alleys and the Books are tied for first place in the current City Tenpin league, with the Penn Powers having won seven and lost two, and the Books having five and one. The Books will meet the Metropolitans Thursday night of this week to play off a postponed match.

The C. I. O. is discouraged by negroes of the South. The boys just can't feet right about talking ugly to the sheriff.

Pitt Working Hard, To Meet Fordham Next

Only Few Changes May Occur In Pitt Panther Lineup This Week

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 12.—Pitt came out of the Duquesne game in fair shape and ready for Fordham. Jock was fairly well satisfied with play of team, but believes it has a long way to go to hit 1936 form.

Only Bill Daddio and Marshall Goldberg are nursing bruises that will keep them out of much practice this week, but Trainer Frank Altmar expects to have them ready by Saturday.

There wasn't a lot of talk about lineup changes, although Sutherland will be in character for season if he makes a few. So far he has made six shakeups in his starting lineup. However, the team that shook Goldberg loose for the winning run against the Dukes, and the team that punched to the one yard line in the third quarter, is about due to get the nod as the official starting team.

Very Few Changes

This would have Daddio and Souchak, who got plenty of praise from the coaches for the best game of his career Saturday, at the ends, Matisi and Delich at the tackles, Lezouski and either Petro or Dalle Tezze at the guards, Hensley at center, Chickernee at quarter, Goldberg and Stebbins at the halfbacks, and Stapulis at fullback.

While Daddio is out, Souchak will take a turn at left end with Paul Shaw and Fabian Hoffmann working on the right side of the line. The coaches are still backing Bob Dannies at center. They feel that he will be a big help from now on in, after getting the first game "jitters" out of his system.

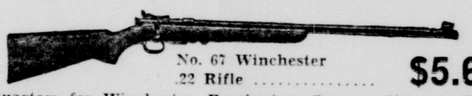

ITALIAN FIGHTER WINS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 12.—Enrico Venturi, Italian holder of the lightweight championship of Europe, today held an eight-round decision over Tommy Rawson of Boston after coming from behind to win before 2,000 fans. Venturi weighed 141, six pounds more than Rawson.

MILTON A. C. WINS

The Milton A. C. football team handed the Croton Progressive team a 6 to 0 defeat at Castle Field. The Miltons made 17 first downs to five for the Crotons.

FROM ME TO YOU

By MESEEALL.

Here is an interesting letter . . . about apartment houses . . . it asks for a little advice that this column is unable to give but would like to ask the same question . . . in fact, there are several questions concerning apartment houses that we would like to ask . . . First young lady, we will ask what should be done about keeping the radio on loud enough to hear it all over the apartment? . . . maybe if the person was spoken to, it might help . . . in most cases it doesn't, but you might try . . . Here is one from our own files . . . What to do about the children that live overhead . . . one's that stay up to all hours and keep running around like they were holding a marathon . . . one's that make the chandeliers sway? . . . why do people in apartment houses enjoy watching others, to the point that they can tell the hour and how they dress when coming or going? . . . this is a funny old world.

Here is the first letter on the idea of changing the name of the Bachelor-Girl's Club to "Unclaimed Treasure" . . . it comes from the East Side Philosopher and she claims that Bachelor-Girl is a MODERN and Up-to-date phrase . . . to prove this she gives us the column of O. O. McIntyre's . . . in which he is talking about Tallulah Bankhead and he says that she would go on being a "gay bachelor girl" . . . so this young lady claims we should not change the name . . . I'm inclined to agree with this philosopher . . . here are a few more members for the organization . . . Misses Lena Gainster . . . Grace Porter and Betty Reiber . . . who will be next?

Just a few words about Ezio Pinza the Metropolitan singer that held the Civic Music Lovers in a trance last night . . . this gentleman thinks New Castle is a fine place and the spaghetti at a local restaurant as good as you can get any place . . . this gentleman is a very temperate . . . he drinks nothing but water or milk . . . no coffee or ginger ale . . . his greatest pleasure is to drive over our highways at 70 or 75 miles an hour (he won't last long at that rate) . . . and our Billboards over here are terrible . . . oh yes he is very fond of ice cream.

Ordinance No. 65

An Ordinance of the Borough of Bessemer, in Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, prohibiting the manufacture, sale, exhibition for sale and use of fireworks in the said Borough, except under certain conditions and regulating said conditions, and providing penalties.

Section 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the Burgess and the Borough Council of the Borough of Bessemer, in Lawrence County, Pennsylvania, and it hereby is ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, that from and after the passage of this ordinance it shall be unlawful to manufacture, sell, exhibit for sale or use any fireworks in the Borough of Bessemer aforesaid, except under the conditions hereinafter specified.

Section 2. Any military, patriotic, educational, fraternal organization, or committee of citizens of the Borough, desiring to have a display of fireworks on some open lot or field in said Borough where, in the opinion of the Burgess and the Chief of Police, the danger of fire or other casualty is small, the use of fireworks for said purposes and in such places will not be unlawful provided a permit for the same be first obtained from the Burgess and the Chief of Police, and provided further that the privileges granted in such permit be not exceeded or abused by the recipients of such permit, or those acting under or for them in providing said exhibit, and/or carrying out the display of the same.

Section 3. Before a permit for the display of fireworks by any such organization as is mentioned in the second section hereof is granted, application for the same shall be made by one or more citizens of said Borough who will assume the responsibility of seeing that the privileges granted in said permit be not exceeded or abused by the organization to which the permit is granted, or by those providing said exhibit and/or carrying out the display of the same, and each and every one of such persons making such application shall be responsible for any exceeding of or abusing such privileges and be liable for the penalties hereinafter provided, if the privileges granted in such permit be exceeded or abused as hereinafter set forth.

Section 4. It shall not be unlawful for any merchant of the said Borough of Bessemer to be a member of any of the organizations or committee of citizens mentioned in the second paragraph hereof, or to be one of the applicants for a permit as provided in Section 3 hereof, and it shall not be unlawful for any merchants of the Borough of Bessemer to furnish and sell to any organization to which a permit has been granted as provided by Sections 2 and 3 of this ordinance, the supplies necessary for such demonstration or exhibit of fireworks as may be authorized by said permit.

Section 5. The permit hereinbefore provided for shall specify the limits of the land to which it applies, and any display of fireworks beyond the limits provided for in said permit shall be deemed a violation of this ordinance, and render the person or persons doing so, liable to the penalties herein provided in cases where no permit has been granted.

Section 6. Any person violating the provisions of Sections 1 or 5 of this ordinance, upon conviction thereof before the Burgess or any justice of the peace of said Borough, shall pay a fine of not less than $5.00 nor more than $25.00 and costs of suit at the discretion of the Burgess or justice of the peace before whom the case is tried, and if the privileges granted in any permit are exceeded or abused, each of the applicants for the permit, as provided in Section 3 hereof shall be deemed guilty of violating this ordinance and, upon conviction thereof before the Burgess or any justice of the peace of said Borough, shall pay a fine of not less than $25.00 nor more than $50.00 and costs of suit at the discretion of the Burgess or justice of the peace before whom the case is tried.

Ordained and enacted in Council this 4th day of October, A.D. 1937.

Roy C. Wallis,

Attest:
Chas. B. Nord,
Borough Secretary.

Examined and approved by me this 6th day of Oct. 1937.

Archbishop Is Given Support

(International News Service)

ROME, Oct. 12.—Action of Archbishop Edward A. Mooney of Detroit in silencing Father Charles E. Coughlin, the "radio priest", has full support of the Vatican, it was stated semi-officially today.

The archbishop acted "autonomously" in suggesting revisions in the text of a radio speech prepared by Father Coughlin in which he again attacked President Roosevelt, but reported to the Vatican after Coughlin had "voluntarily" abandoned his radio talks.

On previous occasions the Vatican has expressed its disapproval of Father Coughlin's political observations.

TEACHER TENURE ACT RESTORES PRINCIPAL

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 12.—Earl Hawkins, transferred from principalship of a consolidated school to a lesser position in another school, prepared today for restoration to his former job after Judge Challen W. Waychoff held the move a violation of the Teacher Tenure act.

Hawkins was removed as principal of the consolidated school at the village of Lippencott, Morgan township, and made a teacher at Mather with a subsequent pay reduction.

Pinza Opens Season For Civic Music

Metropolitan Basso In Rare Voice For Opening Of Concert Season

Ezio Pinza, basso, opened the Civic Music Association concert season Monday night in the Senior high school auditorium. Which is of a pattern with the statement that Gehrig opened the ball game for the Yanks with a home run, or that Goldberg took the kickoff for a touchdown, or that your wife opened the bidding with a grand slam.

Ezio Pinza is a basso cantante, which is a basso with a roving commission. Not in a long time has a singer been heard here with the breadth of range of this athletic rocking artist. At times he plumbed the depths of the basso's field with big round organ tones. Again he was pouring out pure baritone and at times he was up around the edge of the tenor's realm. And always he was the artist, always the singer with the tones of silk, making his audience feel that his mission in life was only that of pleasing them here in New Castle. And he did.

His program was divided into two major parts. In the first he presented two groups of classics in the Italian. An aria from the "Magic Flute" by Mozart, numbers by Handel, by Legrenzi, by Beethoven and by Scarlatti. The first part of his second group was a foursome of English numbers and his closing trio of songs, three more in the Italian, closing with the aria, "Il Lecerato Spirito," (Simon Boccanegro) by Verdi.

What were the high spots of his program? That depended upon the taste of the auditors. Generally, it was agreed that the three numbers in the latter part of his first half were his best, bu his means only that they were the shining stars in a constellation.

His accompanist was Frederick Shauwecker, a pianist who himself would charm an audience with his artistry. Accompanying Pinza he welded his art to that of the singer and between the two of them they gave New Castle a concert that augurs well for the season's offerings.

Report Fugitive Taken At Midland

Liquor Agents Report Man Wanted In Lawrence County Taken In Beaver County

Arthur Keresty, alleged fugitive from justice, who was said to have esscaped from State Liquor Control board agents after abandoning a car loaded with liquor on the Mt. Jackson-Enon Valley road August 13, is in the Lawrence county jail, having been captured at Midland by police acting on information provided by the agents.

The liquor agents said they had raided a place in Beaver county near the Lawrence county line last August and found 140 gallons of liquor. They watched for Keresty and claim he drove his car through a wheat field, leaped from the auto and liquor agents lost sight of him. They found the car filled with liquor, they state.

More recently they learned he was at Midland and furnished the information that resulted in his arrest and his being brought to the Lawrence county jail to await trial.

Airport Committee Will Meet Tonight

Members of the general committee for the dedication of the new airport at Parkstown will gather tonight at seven thirty in the office of Mayor Charles E. McGrath to lay plans for the dedication.

Sam H. McGoun has been named chairman of the affair and is expected to outline his plans and assign duties to the various committeemen.

No definite date for the dedication has been named as yet nor can it be until Major John P. Morris, head of the aeronautical division of the state decides when the port will be ready for use.

Refrigerant Lets Loose In Apartment

City firemen were summoned to a vacant apartment at 121½ West Washington street, Monday evening about 6:35, when other occupants of the building smelled ammonia gas.

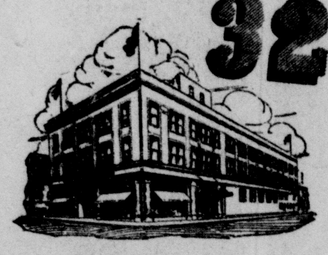

Firemen found on arrival, that Mrs. Anne Brophy had moved from the apartment yesterday, leaving only the refrigerator in the place. During her absence, someone is believed to have tampered with the machine and broken the gas line.

Firemen entered with gas masks and opened the windows of the room, allowing the gas to escape, after which the leaking gas was cut off by doubling back the broken line.
